4 O hear my cry, my righteous God

4 Though you are angry, do not sin.
O search your heart; be still.
Present a righteous sacrifice;
trust in the LORD's good will.

5 "O who can show us any good?"
I hear so many say.
O LORD, shine on us with your light;
show us your face, I pray.

6 You filled my heart with greater joy
than others may have found
as they rejoiced at harvest time,
when grain and wine abound.

7 I will lie down and sleep in peace;
my heart will rest secure,
for you alone, O gracious LORD,
will keep me safe and sure.

O LORD my God, my refuge is in you

4 Arise, O LORD, in wrath against my foes, against the rage of all who me oppose.
Awake, my GOD, let justice now abound
for all assembled nations gathered round.

5 Rule over all the nations from on high;
your justice to the peoples, LORD, apply.
According to my righteousness judge me;
look, O Most High, on my integrity.

6 O God of righteousness, you are the one who searches deep the heart and mind of man;
bring to an end the wicked's violence
and be the righteous one's secure defence.

7 My shield and confidence is God Most High,
who saves the upright when to him they cry.
God is a judge who does what's right and fair,
and every day his wrath God will declare.

8 If it should be that man will not repent,
God's sword he'll whet, his deadly instrument,
and he will string and bend his mighty bow
from which his fiery arrows forth will go.

9 The one who evil in his heart conceives gives birth to lies and no reward receives.
He digs a hole, he scoops it with his spade,
then falls into the very pit he made.

10 His scheming will recoil on him instead;
his evil will descend upon his head.
I'll thank the LORD who acts in righteousness;
I'll praise the LORD Most High; his name I'll bless.

Tune: William H. Doane, 1875 TO GOD BE THE GLORY

Wholehearted thanksgiving

4 The LORD sits forever as King on his throne;
his rule is established for justice alone.
He judges the world and he does what is right;
he governs the nations with justice and might.

5 The LORD is a stronghold in times of distress,
a refuge for those whom the wicked oppress.
Your people who know you will trust in your grace;
you've never forsaken those seeking your face.

6 Praise GOD, who in Zion has founded his throne;
proclaim to the nations the deeds he has done.
The cry of afflicted ones rings in his ear;
their blood he avenges, their plea he will hear.

7 LORD, see what I suffer from malice and hate!
Have pity, and lift me away from death's gate,
that I in Jerusalem's gates may proclaim your mercy, and sing to the praise of your name.

8 The nations are sunk in the pit they prepared;
their feet in the net which they hid are ensnared.
The LORD by his justice has made himself known;
and by their own works are the wicked cast down.

9 The wicked return to the grave's dark abode,
all nations and those who are heedless of God.
But God will remember the cause of the weak;
he will not let perish the hope of the meek.

10 Arise, O my GOD! Let not man win the day;
let nations be judged in your presence, I pray.
O LORD, strike the nations; put fear in their breast to teach them that they are but human at best.

PSALM

10 O LORD, why do you stand remote?

4 The wicked does not seek the LORD
because he is so proud,
and in his inmost thoughts there is no room at all for God.

5 His ways are always prosperous;
he strikes a haughty pose.
He keeps his distance from your laws;
he sneers at all his foes.

6 He reassures himself and says,
"No threat will topple me –
I will be happy evermore;
from trouble I'll be free."

7 The wicked's mouth is always full of curses, threats and lies;
evil and trouble from his tongue continually arise.

8 He lies in wait near villages
his victims' blood to spill;
he lurks in secret ambushes
the innocent to kill.

9 Like lions crouching secretly
he waits for helpless prey.
He pounces on the weak and poor;
his net drags them away.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 CM
Tune: William Tans'ur, 1734 BANGOR

O LORD, why do you stand remote?

10 His victims by his strength are crushed;
his prey collapse and fall.
He thinks, “God does not notice it;
he does not see at all.”

11 Arise, LORD God, lift up your hand;
do not forget the poor.
Why does the wicked say of God,
“My conduct he’ll ignore”?

12 But you, O God, do see such wrong
and you will bring redress.
The victim puts his trust in you;
you help the fatherless.

13 LORD, break the wicked person’s power
and call him to account for all the evil which he thought would never be found out.

14 The LORD will ever reign as King;
his throne will always stand.
The heathen nations of the world will perish from his land.

15 O LORD, the needy ones’ desire you answer from on high;
you give encouragement to them
and listen to their cry.

16 For you defend the fatherless
and those who are oppressed,
so that from fear of mortal man
the helpless may have rest.

LORD, hear my righteous plea

8 In shadow of your wings
hide me in times of strife;
and as the apple of your eye preserve and guard my life.

9 Hide me from ruthless foes
who follow wicked ways, from those who circle me about
and seek to end my days.

10 They close their callous hearts;
they speak with swelling pride.
They dog my steps; my enemies
are found on every side.

11 They fix their eyes on me
to cast me to the ground.
Like hungry lions stalking prey,
they crouch without a sound.

12 Arise, confront my foes
and bring them down, O LORD;
deliver me from wicked hands
and free me by your sword.

13 Save me by your right hand
from all such people, LORD, from mortal men who in this life
will have their sole reward.

14 You fill them with good things;
their sons are satisfied.
They leave their children all the wealth
which they have set aside.

15 But I in righteousness your face will surely see;
and with your likeness, when I wake,
I satisfied will be.

18 I love you, LORD!

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 LMD
Tune: J. Albert Jeffrey, 1851–1928, adapt. ST. AGNES' SCHOOL

I love you, LORD!

4 He made the dark his canopy,
dark rain clouds swirling in the sky.
From brightness of his presence came clouds, hail and lightning from on high.
The LORD Most High sent forth his voice;
his thunder from the heavens pealed.
His arrows scattered all his foes;
his lightning drove them from the field.

5 The valleys of the sea lay bare and earth's foundations deep and vast,
when your rebuke went forth, O LORD –
the pow-er of your nostrils' blast.
From heaven he reached to grasp my hand
and lift me as the waters rose;
he saved me from my enemy,
from all my overpowering foes.

6 They threatened me in my distress,
but GOD stood by me in my plight.
He brought me out and set me free,
because in me he took delight.
According to my righteousness
the LORD dealt with me faithfully;
because my hands were clean from sin,
the LORD my God rewarded me.

7 For I have kept the ways of God;
from him I have not turned away.
I have not strayed from his decrees;
his statutes ever with me stay.
Before the LORD I've kept myself
from blame and all transgression free.
Since in his sight my hands were clean,
the LORD my God rewarded me.

8 With faithful people you keep faith,
and to the blameless you are good.
With pure men you yourself are pure,
but with the crooked you are shrewd.
You save the humble and the meek,
but bring the proud down from their height.
You, LORD, will keep my lamp aflame;
God turns my darkness into light.

I love you, LORD!

I love you, LORD!

12 With strength you armed me for the fight;
my foes you humbled at my feet.
You made them turn their backs in flight;
and their destruction was complete.
They cried for help, but none could save;
they cried to GOD – no answer came.
I beat them fine as wind-borne dust;
like wayside dirt I scattered them.

13 You set me over many lands;
you saved me from my enemy.
A people whom I did not know
are in subjection now to me.
The moment that they hear my voice
they cringe before me and obey.
In fear they tremble and lose heart;
they leave their strongholds in dismay.

14 The LORD lives! Praise be to my rock!
My Saviour God exalted be!
He has avenged me, and subdued rebellious peoples under me.
You saved me from my enemies,
exalting me above my foes;
you rescued me from violent men
who sought my kingdom to oppose.

15 Therefore among the nations, LORD, your praise in song I will proclaim;
before the peoples of the world
I'll sing the glory of your name.
You give your king great victories;
your lovingkindness you will pour on David, your anointed one,
and his descendants evermore.

19 The spacious heavens declare

Text: Composite, Sing to the Lord, 2008 — 66 66 88

Tune: Sir John Goss, arr. Uzziah C. Burnap, 1874 — ARTHUR'S SEAT

The spacious heavens declare

4 Jehovah's perfect law restores the soul again;
his testimony sure
makes wise the simple one;
the precepts of the LORD are right
and fill the heart with great delight.

5 The LORD's commands are clear, light to the eyes restore;
the fear of GOD is pure,
enduring evermore;
his judgments, let the world confess,
are wholly truth and righteousness.

6 They're more to be desired
than stores of finest gold;
than honey from the comb
more sweetness far they hold.
With warnings they your servant guard,
in keeping them is great reward.

7 His errors who can know?
Forgive my hidden sin;
keep me from wilful sins,
nor let them o'er me reign;
and blameless then I shall appear,
and be from great transgressions clear.

8 Let all the words I speak and all the thoughts within come up before your sight
and your approval win,
O LORD, you are a rock to me;
you have redeemed and set me free.

My God, my God

4 Yet from the womb you brought me forth, entrusted me to mother's breast;
from birth dependent on your care; from birth my God in whom I rest.
Be not far off, for grief is nigh; there's none on whom I can rely.

5 Bulls circle me, strong bulls surround, like lions roaring for their prey;
they open wide their mouths at me. Like water, my life's poured away.
My bones stick out; my heart's like wax: it's melting right away in me.

6 My mouth is dry like pottery, so that my tongue sticks to my jaws.
You'll bring me to the dust of death. A pack of dogs surrounds my course;
upon me comes a wicked crew; my hands and feet they pierce right through.

7 I look upon my weakened frame while they with pleasure gloat and stare.
My clothes they share among themselves, and for my tunic cast lots there.
But be not far from me, O LORD; my strength, your help to me afford!

8 Deliver me from their strong swords; my precious life – it's all I have – deliver from the power of dogs. O save me from the lion's mouth, from the wild oxen's horns that rend – Ah! now you hear and answer send!

9 To all my brothers I'll declare the glory of your holy name.
I'll praise you where the people meet. You who fear GOD, his praise proclaim!
All sons of Jacob, praise his grace, and stand in awe, O Israel's race!

10 For he despised not, nor abhorred, th' afflicted man's most wretched state;
he has not turned away his face from one who was in trouble great.
And when he cried to him in grief, he heard his prayer and sent relief.

11 Within the congregation great I offer praise you have supplied.
I'll pay my vows with those who fear; the meek will eat, be satisfied.
Those who seek GOD will him adore; your hearts will prosper evermore!

12 All ends of earth remember will, and they'll return unto the LORD.
The families of the nations then to him their homage will accord, because the LORD the kingdom owns; he rules above all earthly thrones!

13 Earth's rich will eat and worship him; the poor and destitute bow low.
The race to come will serve his will, for what the Lord has done they'll know.
And to each age that will unfold, his righteous acts will all be told!

Tune: Caradog Roberts, 1878–1935 — IN MEMORIAM

LORD, I lift my soul to thee

4 Grace and truth shall mark the way
where the LORD his own will lead,
if his word they still obey
and his testimonies heed.
For thy name's sake hear thou me,
for thy mercy, LORD, I wait;
pardon mine iniquity,
for my sin is very great.

5 He who walks in godly fear
in the path of truth shall go;
peace shall be his portion here,
and his sons all good shall know.
They that fear and love the LORD shall his faithful friendship know;
he will grace to them accord,
and his faithful covenant show.

6 Ever are my longing eyes
on the LORD, whose watchful care,
when my foes their plots devise,
keeps my feet from every snare.
Turn to me, thy grace impart,
I am desolate indeed;
great the troubles of my heart;
save thou me, O LORD, I plead.

7 Look on mine afflicted state,
freely all my sins forgive;
mark my foes, their cruel hate;
keep my soul and let me live.
Shame me not; I hide in thee;
truth and right preserve me still;
mark thy people, LORD my God,
save thou them from every ill.

26 LORD, speak for me, for I am yours

4 I wash my hands in innocence
and seek your altar, LORD,
and, singing there with thankful voice,
your mighty works record.

5 I love your house, O mighty LORD,
I love the holy place
where you in your great glory dwell;
you visit us in grace.

6 O do not sweep me down to death
with those who thirst for blood;
their right hands overflow with bribes;
they turn away from good.

7 I walk in my integrity;
redeem me, LORD, in grace.
Securely now I stand, O LORD;
in worship I bring praise.

Jehovah is my light

4 When troubles round me swell, when fears and dangers throng, securely I will dwell
in his pavilion strong;
within the covert of his tent
he hides me till the storm is spent.

5 Uplifted on a rock
above my foes around,
amid the battle shock
my song shall still resound;
then joyful offerings I will bring,
Jehovah's praise my heart shall sing.

6 LORD, hear me when I cry!
O answer me in grace!
Each time I hear you say,
"Enquire and seek my face,"
my heart in glad response will speak,
"Your face, O LORD, I'll always seek."

7 Hide not your face from me,
your servant now, I pray;
the day you angry be
O turn me not away!
You've been my help. Forsake me not!
God, my salvation, leave me not!

8 Though parents may betray,
the LORD will care for me.
Teach me, O LORD, your way;
on level paths lead me.
For all my foes in ambush wait;
my way is lined with those who hate.

9 O to my foes' desire hand me not over now!
They cunningly conspire
their charges false to vow.
Their every breath is cruelty;
how hopeless seems my cause to be!

10 O had I not believed that I would surely see the goodness of the LORD
with those that living be...
Wait for the LORD! With strength restored, be brave in heart. Wait for the LORD!

28 To you, O LORD, I cry

4 My joyful heart trusts him,
and thankfully I sing.
The LORD our strength and shield abides,
our saviour and our king.
O save and bless, and shepherd us,
and home, LORD, safely bring!

Tune: Charles H. Gabriel, 1912

O give to Jehovah, you sons

4 The voice of the LORD strikes with flashes of lightning and causes the fi-er-y flashes to break!
The voice of the LORD makes the wilderness tremble –
the LORD makes the desert of Kadesh to shake!

5 The voice of the LORD calls the deer into labour;
the high standing forest of trees it strips bare!
And all of the length and the breadth of his temple,
and all things within it, his glory declare!

6 The LORD on his throne sat above the great deluge;
the LORD now is King, and his reign will not cease!
The LORD is the one who gives strength to his people;
the LORD is the one who will bless them with peace!

30 O LORD, I will exalt your name

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 CMD
Tune: William F. Sherwin, 1826–1888 HEAVENLY FOLD

O LORD, I will exalt your name

4 What gain will my destruction bring
if I descend to death?
Will dust proclaim your faithfulness
or praise you with its breath?
Hear as I cry, O LORD my God,
and listen to my plea.
Come to my aid in my distress;
have mercy, LORD, on me.

5 You turned my wailing into dance;
no longer was I sad.
My sackcloth gone, you gave me clothes
of joy, and I was glad.
Therefore my heart will sing to you
and never cease to praise;
to your great name, O LORD my God,
I will give thanks always.

31 In you, LORD, I take refuge

Text: Composite, Sing to the Lord, 2012 — 76 76 D
Tune: Alexander Ewing, 1853 — EWING

In you, LORD, I take refuge

4 Be merciful to me, LORD, and send my soul relief;
my eye, my soul, my body are all consumed with grief;
my life is drained by sorrow, my years with sighing spent;
I've lost my strength by sinning; my bones are weak and bent.

5 My adversaries mock me, my neighbours look with dread, my friends do not come near me, they've turned around and fled.
Forgotten like a dead man, I'm like a broken pot.
Their whispers terrify me – because my death they plot.

6 When foes conspire against me to take away my life,
I trust you for protection, for dangers, LORD, are rife.
Let light from your good presence upon your servant shine;
and in your lovingkindness make your salvation mine.

7 Let me not be ashamed, LORD, I call on you to save.
The wicked put to silence, ashamed, into the grave.
Let lying lips be silenced – the speech of insolence –
who boldly blame the righteous and proudly show contempt.

8 How great the good you've gathered for those revering you, stored up for all who trust you where sons of men may view.
You hide them by your presence from all men plotting wrongs;
you keep them in your shelter safe from the strife of tongues.

9 The LORD be blest forever, he showed his love to me;
besieged once like a city, I faced the enemy.
I said when filled with panic, "I'm cut off from your sight."
But still you heard my pleading when I cried out in fright.

10 O love the LORD, you godly! The LORD the faithful keeps, but he repays the haughty, that what he sows he reaps.
So come then, be courageous! new strength your heart he'll give.
All those who hope with patience in God the LORD shall live!

32 How blest is he whose trespass

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957 — 76 76 D
Tune: Chrétien Urhan, 1834; arr. Edward F. Rimbault, 1867 — RUTHERFORD

How blest is he whose trespass

4 “I graciously will teach thee the way that thou shalt go, and with mine eye upon thee my counsel make thee know.
But be ye not unruly, or slow to understand,
be not perverse, but willing to heed my wise command.”

5 The sorrows of the wicked in number shall abound,
but those that trust Jehovah, his mercy shall surround.
Then in the LORD be joyful, in song lift up your voice;
be glad in God, ye righteous; rejoice, ye saints, rejoice!

33 Joyfully sing to the LORD

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 11 10 11 10
Tune: John P. Harding, 1861 MORNING STAR

Joyfully sing to the LORD

4 Let all the world fear the LORD in his greatness;
reverence his name, all you peoples of earth!
For when he spoke, all things came into being;
when he commanded, then all things stood forth.

5 Foiled by the LORD are the plans of the nations;
thwarted by him are the people's designs.
But the LORD's purposes stand firm forever;
his plans endure through all ages and times.

6 Favoured and blest is the nation he's chosen,
whose God the LORD is throughout every age;
Blest are the people he called to be near him,
those whom he chose as his own heritage.

7 From heaven's height the LORD looks down and watches;
he sees mankind from his own dwelling place.
He who has moulded the hearts of all people knows every deed of the whole human race.

8 No king is saved by the size of his army;
no warrior lives by the strength of his hand.
Vain is man's trust in a horse for deliverance,
nor by its strength can it victory command.

9 But the LORD's eyes are on those who revere him,
those who rely on his unfailing love;
So that from famine and death he may save them,
giving them life by his power from above.

10 We wait in hope for the LORD, our defender.
Our hearts rejoice, for we trust in his name.
LORD, may your unfailing love rest upon us,
just as in you our sure hope has been placed.

34 The LORD I will at all times bless

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. CMD
Tune: Benjamin C. Unseld, 1901 EUPHEMIA

The LORD I will at all times bless

4 Come here, my children! Gather round and listen to my word;
and I will help you understand how you may fear the LORD.
Does anyone delight in life
and long to see good days?
Then keep your tongue from evil speech,
your lips from lying ways.

5 Depart and turn from evil paths
and practise what is right.
Desire to know the way of peace;
pursue it with your might.
The LORD's eyes are upon the just;
he listens to their plea.
The wicked he rejects, and blots
from earth their memory.

6 The righteous cry; the LORD responds and frees them when distressed.
The LORD draws near the broken heart
and rescues the depressed.
From all the troubles of the just
the LORD will set him free.
The LORD protects his every bone,
and broken none will be.

35 LORD, plead my case

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. CMD
Tune: Henry S. Cutler, 1872 ALL SAINTS NEW

LORD, plead my case

4 Then will my soul rejoice in God
and in his saving name.
"Who is a God like you, O LORD?"
my heart and soul exclaim.
"The poor you rescue from the hands
of those who are too strong;
you save the poor and weak from those who rob and do them wrong."

5 Malicious witnesses rise up and falsely slander me;
I have no knowledge of the things
they ask accusingly.
They pay back evil for my good
and leave my soul forlorn.
Yet, at their illness, I would fast
and, clad in sackcloth, mourn.

6 And when my prayers went out unheard,
I mourned as one bereaved
of mother, brother, closest friend;
I bowed my head and grieved.
But when I slipped they gathered round
and gloated with delight;
like godless jesters at a feast,
they gnashed their teeth in spite.

7 O LORD, how long will you look on?
Defend me from their strife;
from these marauding lions' teeth
protect my precious life.
Then where the great assembly meets
to you I will give praise;
among the crowds of worshippers
in thanks my voice I'll raise.

8 Let him not gloat who, without cause,
is my fierce enemy,
nor those who hate me unprovoked
stare spitefully at me.
They do not speak in peaceful words,
but cunning schemes have planned,
accusing those who live at peace
and quiet in the land.

9 Triumphantly they shout and say,
"His wickedness we see!"
LORD, you have seen; hold not your peace.
LORD, be not far from me.
Awake, and rise to my defence!
Contend for me, my God.
Do not let them gloat over me;
in justice judge, O LORD.

10 Let them not think within their hearts,
"At last! Just what we want!"
Nor let them say, "We've swallowed him" –
let that not be their taunt.
May all who gloat at my distress
know shame and loss of face;
may all who triumph over me
be covered with disgrace.

11 May those who long to see me cleared
shout out with joy and sing:
"The LORD be praised, who loves to see his servant prospering."
I will extol your righteousness;
I'll praise you with my tongue.
I will proclaim your greatness, LORD,
and praise you all day long.

Do not fret on account of the wicked

4 So be silent and seek the LORD's presence, and be patient until he replies;
do not fret when you see the successful,
if their schemes are promoted through lies.

5 Do not fret – it leads only to evil;
keep your temper and stay far from wrath,
for the wicked will certainly perish,
while the godly inherit the earth.

6 Yet a while, and the wicked will vanish;
though you search, they will never be found.
But the land will belong to the humble,
and their welfare and peace will abound.

7 Though the wicked may strike at the righteous,
and may gnash their teeth wildly in hate;
yet the Lord simply laughs at the wicked,
for he sees the approach of their fate.

8 Though the wicked take aim at the righteous and attempt to bring down the oppressed,
yet their bow will be broken in pieces,
and their sword will but pierce their own breast.

9 Though the righteous have little, it's better than the riches of many unjust;
for the wicked's great strength will be broken,
but the LORD is the righteous one's trust.

10 Day by day the LORD cares for the blameless,
so their heritage stands ever sure.
When a famine comes, they will have plenty;
and in drought they will always endure.

11 But the wicked will certainly perish;
they will vanish, as smoke blows away.
And the foes of the LORD will be scattered,
like the flower of the field in a day.

Do not fret on account of the wicked

15 If you turn back from sin and act rightly, you'll continue forever secure;
for the LORD shows his love to the righteous;
those who trust him he'll keep safe and sure.

16 The obedient will not be forsaken,
but the line of the wicked will fail.
To the righteous the land will be given,
and forever in it they will dwell.

17 From the mouth of the righteous comes wisdom;
words of justice proceed from their lips.
For the law of their God is within them
and ensures that their foot never slips.

18 The unjust lie in wait for the righteous;
to destroy them is always their thought.
But the LORD will not let them be mastered,
or condemned when to court they are brought.

19 Put your trust in the LORD, I exhort you;
in his ways you should always remain.
To inherit the land he'll exalt you;
you will see when the wicked are slain.

20 I have witnessed a ruthless man standing like a flourishing tree in its ground;
but he soon passed away and was nothing;
though I searched, he was not to be found.

21 Watch the blameless, consider the upright;
there's a future for those who make peace.
But destruction awaits the rebellious,
and their future will suddenly cease.

22 From the LORD comes the hope of the righteous, and in trouble defence for the meek;
so the LORD saves them all from the wicked,
for in him their protection they seek.

38 In wrath do not rebuke me, LORD

4 I am bowed down, I am brought low,
and I go mourning all the day.
My back is filled with searing pain,
and my whole body wastes away.

5 I'm feeble and completely crushed;
in anguish of my heart I groan.
LORD, my desires before you lie;
to you my sighing is well known.

6 My heart beats wildly, strength has failed,
the light has faded from my eye.
My friends and neighbours keep away;
they see my wounds and then pass by.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 LM
Tune: Griffith Hugh Jones (Gutyn Arfon), 1849–1919 LLEF

In wrath do not rebuke me, LORD

7 My enemies who seek my life with cunning set their snares for me;
my foes conspire to do me harm,
and all day long plot treachery.

8 I'm like the deaf, who cannot hear,
and like the mute, who cannot cry.
I'm like a man who hears no sound,
whose mouth can offer no reply.

9 I wait for you, O LORD my God;
and you, O LORD, will answer me.
I prayed to you, "If my foot slips,
let them not gloat exultantly."

10 Indeed I am about to fall;
my pain is ever deep within.
I must confess iniquity,
and I am troubled by my sin.

11 My foes are vigorous and strong;
and many hate me wrongfully.
My good with evil they repay;
when I seek good, they slander me.

12 O LORD, do not abandon me;
do not be far from me, my God.
Come quickly to deliver me
because you are my Saviour, LORD.

I said, “Now let me watch my ways”

5 “For you rebuke and punish men
for their iniquity.
You, like a moth, consume their wealth;
each man is vanity.
O LORD, please listen to my prayer
and hear my cry for aid;
do not be deaf to the appeal
which I with tears have made.

6 “For as your guest I stay a while.
I’m like my fathers all –
a stranger and a pilgrim here.
Have mercy when I call.
O turn away your eyes from me.
Let me rejoice again
before I finally depart
and here no more remain.”

39b Teach me the measure of my days

5 What should I wish or wait for then,
from creatures, earth and dust?
They make our expectations vain,
and disappoint our trust.

6 Now I forbid my carnal hope,
my fond desires recall;
my mortal interest I give up,
and make my God my all.

40 I waited long upon the LORD

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. LMD
Tune: Joseph Parry, 1870 MERTHYR TYDFIL

I waited long upon the LORD

4 In the assembly when it met your justice I proclaimed abroad.
I did not seal my lips at all;
you know all this about me, LORD.
I did not hide within my heart
your saving grace and righteousness;
in the assembly I proclaimed
your steadfast love and faithfulness.

5 Do not withhold your mercy, LORD;
surround your servant constantly
with your great love and faithfulness,
for many troubles threaten me.
My sins have overtaken me;
they're more than hairs upon my head.
My heart within me fails for grief;
I cannot see the way ahead.

6 Be pleased, O LORD, to rescue me;
O LORD, come quickly to my aid.
May all who seek to take my life
with shame and turmoil be repaid.
May all who plot my overthrow turn back, disgraced, the way they came.
May those who mock me to my face become appalled at their own shame.

7 But let all those who seek your face
be joyful in you all their days;
let those who love salvation say,
"Exalted be the LORD always!"
Yet I am poor and in great need;
LORD, think on me, I humbly pray.
You are my saviour and my help;
come, O my God! Do not delay.

41 Blest is the one

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 10 10 10 10
Tune: Frederick C. Atkinson, 1870 MORECAMBE

Blest is the one

4 They visit me with falsehood in their hearts and then go out and spread their wicked lies.
Against me all my foes are whispering;
the worst of fates for me their minds devise.

5 They say, “A vile disease has struck him down;
he never will get up and leave his bed.”
My closest friend has turned his back on me –
my trusted friend, with whom I shared my bread.

6 But you, O LORD, be merciful to me
and raise me up their malice to repay.
I know that you are pleased with me, O LORD;
for over me my foe does not hold sway.

7 In my integrity you hold me fast;
before you I will constantly remain.
O praise the LORD, the God of Israel,
forever and forevermore! Amen.

Tune: Genevan Psalter, 1551; harm. Koraalboek vir Psalms en Gesange — THIRSTING

As a deer in want of water

4 From the land beyond the Jordan, in my grief I think of you;
from the foothills of Mount Hermon
I will still remember you.
As the waters plunge and leap,
stormy troubles o'er me sweep.
Day and night God's song is with me
as a prayer to him who loves me.

5 I will say to God, my fortress,
"Why have you forgotten me?
Why must I proceed in sadness,
hounded by the enemy?"
Their rebukes and scoffing words
pierce my bones like pointed swords,
as they say with proud defiance,
"Where is God, your firm reliance?"

6 O my soul, why are you grieving,
why disquieted in me?
Put your hope in God, believing
he will still your refuge be.
I again shall praise his grace
for the comfort of his face;
he will show his help and favour,
for he is my God and Saviour.

43 Vindicate me, God, my Father

1 Vindicate me, God, my Father,
come and plead my urgent cause,
for my enemies forever
threaten me and flout your laws.
I am safe with you alone;
why do you reject your own?
Lord, I need your help and blessing;
keep me safe from this oppressing.

2 Send your light and truth to lead me:
send them forth to be my guide.
To your mountain let them bring me,
to the place where you reside.
Then, O God, I will come near and before your throne appear,
to my Saviour praises bringing with the harp and joyful singing.

3 O my soul, why are you grieving,
why disquieted in me?
Put your hope in God, believing
he will still your refuge be.
I again shall praise his grace
for the comfort of his face;
he will show his help and favour,
for he is my God and Saviour.

Text: The Complete Book of Psalms for Singing, © Rowland S. Ward, 1991 11 11 11 11
Tune: Welsh melody, c. 1600 MALDWYN

O God, we have heard

4 No trust will I place in my sword or my bow,
for you are my Saviour from hater and foe.
In God we will boast, for you put them to shame,
all day and forever we'll praise your great name.

5 But now you forsake us, to shame bring our boasts,
no more into battle accompany our hosts.
You make us turn back from our foe in dismay,
and these our opponents have made us their prey.

6 You give us like sheep to be slaughtered for food,
among all the nations dispersed and pursued.
You sell off your people to strangers for naught;
their price to your treasury no increase has brought.

7 You make all our neighbours reproach us in pride, and cause those around us to scoff and deride.
The nations revile us and joke at our name;
they taunt and they threaten; I always know shame.

8 This happened though we had been faithful to you;
we always have been to your covenant true.
Our heart has not turned back, our steps have not strayed,
though made like a ruin and under death's shade.

9 If we had forgotten the name of our God or worshipped an idol, would God then not know?
for he knows the secrets in everyone's heart;
so why do we face death all day for your sake?

10 We're thought to be destined for slaughter like sheep.
Awake, O defender! for why do you sleep?
Rise up! Don't forget us forever, we plead.
O why hide your face from our sorrow and need?

11 Our lives are all broken, we're brought very low;
our bodies lie crushed on the ground in our woe.
Rise up! Be our helper! Redeem from the dust, because in your covenant mercy we trust.

Tune: John Wainwright, 1750 — YORKSHIRE

A noble theme inspires my heart

4 With oil of joy he has anointed you;
with pleasant fragrance all your robes abound.
From palaces adorned with ivory
stringed instruments delight you with their sound.
Among your women royal daughters stand,
the king's own bride in gold at your right hand.

5 O daughter, listen and give ear to me;
forget your people and your father's house.
See how your beauty has enthralled the king;
give honour to your lord and royal spouse.
People from Tyre will come with gifts to you,
and wealthy folk your favour will pursue.

6 All glorious is the princess in the court;
her bridal gown with finest gold is wrought.
She comes before the king in broidered robes;
to you the maidens in her train are brought.
With joy and gladness they are ushered in;
they come into the palace of the king.

7 Your sons will occupy your fathers' place,
and you will make them princes in the land.
Through all the generations still to come
I will ensure your memory will stand;
and therefore all the nations of the earth
forevermore will celebrate your worth.

God is our refuge and our strength

4 O come and see what wondrous works
the hand of GOD has done;
come, see what desolation great
he brings beneath the sun.
In every corner of the earth

the weapons of the strong destroyed,
he makes abiding peace.

5 “Be still and know that I am God, o’er all exalted high;
and every nation of the earth
my name shall magnify.”
The LORD of hosts is on our side,
our safety to secure;
the God of Jacob is for us
a refuge strong and sure.

and holy is his throne.

5 Our fathers' God to own
the kings of earth draw nigh,
for none can save but God alone;
he is the Lord Most High.

Tune: George J. Elvey, 1868

Great is the LORD our God

4 Within your temple, LORD, in that most holy place, we on your lovingkindness dwell, the wonders of your grace.
Your people sing your praise where'er your name is known;
by every deed your hand has worked your righteousness is shown.

5 Let Zion now rejoice and all her daughters sing;
let them with thankfulness proclaim the judgments of their King.
Mount Zion's walls behold, about her ramparts go,
and number all the lofty towers that guard her from the foe.

6 Observe her palaces, mark her defences well, that to the children after you, her glories you may tell.
For God as our own God forever will abide,
and till life's journey close in death will be our faithful guide.

49 Listen to me, all you peoples

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 87 87 D
Tune: John Zundel, 1870 BEECHER

Listen to me, all you peoples

4 So for endless generations
in their tombs they will remain,
though they owned, while they were living,
lands to which they gave their name.
Man despite his wealth is mortal;
like the beasts, he fades away.
Thus the self-assured will perish,
though renowned for what they say.

5 Death will feed upon their bodies;
just like sheep they meet their fate.
In the grave their forms will perish,
far from where they lived in state.
But the upright ones will rule them,
once the morning light has shone.
From the grave God will redeem me;
he will take me for his own.

6 Do not quake before a rich man,
though his fortune grows immense and his outward state increases –
for he will take nothing hence.
He will soon descend with nothing of the splendour he possessed, though in life he prospered greatly
and they told him he was blest.

© Faith Alive Christian Resources, 1987, alt. MELITA
Tune: John B. Dykes, 1861

The mighty God and sovereign LORD

4 “I do not need a goat or bull
as offering for my holy shrine.
The cattle on a thousand hills
and all the forest beasts are mine.
Each mountain bird to me is known;
whatever roams the field I own.

5 “If I were hungry, who would know?
I would not look to you for food.
The world and all it has is mine;
I have no need of flesh or blood.
But pay your vows and call on me;
then I will set my people free.”

6 But to the wicked, God declares:
“To quote my law you have no right.
You take my covenant on your lips,
but it is hateful in your sight.
My good instruction you profane
and cast it from you in disdain.

7 “You are a scheming friend of thieves,
of those who break their marriage vows.
Your tongues speak evil and deceit;
you slander those within your house.
You thought that I was just like you,
that there was nothing I would do!

8 “Consider my rebuke and charge,
all you who have forgotten me,
or I will tear you all apart –
then what deliverance will you see?
But those who sacrifice with praise will always know my boundless grace.”

PSALM

51 O my God, have mercy on me

4 Cleanse with hyssop, purify me;
I'll be whiter than the snow.
Let the bones you crushed be joyful;
may I joy and gladness know.
From my sins, Lord, hide your face;
blot out all my wickedness.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 87 87 77
Tune: Lowell Mason, 1792–1872 OTTAWA

O my God, have mercy on me

5 Lord, create a pure heart in me,
and a steadfast mind renew.
Do not take your Spirit from me;
cast me not away from you.
Give me back the joy I had;
keep my willing spirit glad.

6 Then I'll teach your ways to sinners;
rebels will turn back to you.
Free me from bloodguilt, my Saviour,
God most merciful and true.
Then I'll praise your righteousness;
teach my lips your name to bless.

7 Sacrifice does not delight you,
else my tribute I would bring;
nor do you take any pleasure
in a whole burnt offering.
Contrite heart as sacrifice
you, O God, will not despise.

8 Let your blessing rest on Zion;
build Jerusalem's walls again.
Sacrifices then will please you –
bulls upon your altar slain,
offerings made for your delight,
truly righteous in your sight.

51b God, be merciful to me

4 Broken, humbled to the dust
by thy wrath and judgment just,
let my contrite heart rejoice
and in gladness hear thy voice.
From my sins O hide thy face,
blot them out in boundless grace.

5 "Then would I to my hiding place far from the raging of the storm and from the tempest's might."

6 Confuse my enemies, O Lord, and all their speech confound;
for in the city I see strife
and violence abound.

abuse and malice meet.
Destruction is at work, and threats

Tune: Day's Psalter, 1562 ST. FLAVIAN

O God, please listen to my prayer

8 If enemies insulted me, their taunts I could abide;
or if a foe against me rose,
then from him I would hide.

9 But it is you, my closest friend,
a man whom I well know;
we once enjoyed sweet fellowship,
as to God's house we'd go.

10 Let death come on my enemies
and take them by surprise;
may they go to the grave alive,
for evil in them lies.

11 But as for me, I call to God;
the LORD will save me now.
At evening, morning and at noon,
in prayer to him I bow.

12 Distressed, I cry – he hears my voice.
He ransoms me unharmed
from battle waged by many foes,
who are against me armed.

13 My God, enthroned forevermore, will hear and will repay
those men who have no fear of God and never change their way.

14 This man attacks his loyal friends
and breaks his solemn word.
As smooth as butter is his speech,
but in his heart's a sword.

15 O cast your burden on the LORD,
and he will care for you;
he'll never let the righteous fall,
but bring him safely through.

16 But you, O God, will bring them down –
those evil, wicked men –
into the pit of death's decay forever to remain.

17 Bloodthirsty and deceitful men will not live half their days;
but as for me, my confidence
will rest in you always.

st. 5 John Rogers, 2004, © Sing to the Lord, 2008 INVITATION
Tune: Frederick C. Maker, 1881

O God, be merciful

4 You well know all my woes. O bottle all my tears;
are they not in your book where all my life appears?
My foes shall backward turn when I to you appeal.
For this I surely know: that God is for me still.

5 In God, whose word I praise, in him my trust shall be.
I shall not be afraid; what can man do to me?
I bring thank offerings for saving me from death;
before my God I'll live and walk while I have breath.

PSALM

57 Have mercy on me, Lord

4 I live with savage beasts,
I dwell with lions strong –
with men who speak with piercing words;
a sharp sword is their tongue.

5 Above the highest heavens,
O God, exalted be!
And over all the earth below
display your majesty.

6 My soul was overwhelmed;
they spread a net for me.
But they themselves fell in the pit
which they dug secretly.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 SM
Tune: Aaron Williams, 1763 ST. THOMAS

Have mercy on me, Lord

7 My heart is steadfast, Lord;
with music I will sing.
Awake, my soul! Wake, harp and lyre!
My song the dawn will bring.

8 Among the nations, Lord,
to you I will give praise.
Among the peoples of the earth
my songs of you I'll raise.

9 Great is your steadfast love,
which reaches to the sky.
Your constant faithfulness, O Lord, extends to heaven high.

10 Above the highest heavens,
O God, exalted be!
And over all the earth below
display your majesty.

58 You rulers, do you know

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 10 10 10 10
Tune: James Langran, 1861 LANGRAN

You rulers, do you know

4 Destroy, O God, the teeth within their mouths;
LORD, smite the lion's jaw a mighty blow.
Make them disperse as water flows away,
and blunt their arrows when they draw the bow.

5 May they be like the snail that melts away,
or like a stillborn child that sees no sun.
Before a pot can boil on burning thorns,
so swiftly shall the wicked be undone.

6 The just will tread the blood of wicked men;
when they're avenged, the righteous will be glad.
Then all will say, "The just have their reward;
surely the judge of all the earth is God."

59 From foes and all who threaten me

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 CMD
Tune: English melody; arr. Ralph Vaughan Williams, 1906 KINGSFOLD

From foes and all who threaten me

4 But you, O LORD, will laugh at them;
those nations you deride.
I watch for you, my loving God,
my strength, in whom I hide.
My God will come and give me help;
in triumph I will sing
before all those who slander me,
O Lord, our shield and king.

5 But lest my people should forget,
slay not my foes outright.
Cause them to wander aimlessly;
defeat them by your might.
Reward the evil of their lips,
the words of their own mouths;
let them be captured by their pride,
their curses and untruths.

6 Consume them till they are no more;
in anger lay them low.
That God rules over Israel
all distant lands will know.
At evening they return again;
like dogs they snarl and growl.
They roam about the town for food
and, finding none, they howl.

7 But in the morning I will praise
your strength and loving care,
because you are my strong defence,
my refuge from despair.
O God, you are my only strength;
to you I will sing praise.
You are my fortress and my rock,
my loving God always.

5 Prolong the days the king will live;

6 May he forever sit as king

Tune: Arthur Cottman, 1872 DALEHURST

62 My soul finds rest in God alone

4 Find rest, my soul, in God alone;
in him my hope is ever sure.
My safety, fortress, sheltering rock –
in him alone I am secure.

5 My honour and salvation rest
on God, my rock and mighty fort.
O people, trust in him always;
to him alone pour out your heart.

6 The lowborn man is but a breath;
the highborn man is but a lie.
Weighed in a balance, side by side,
they come to nothing but a sigh.

7 Do not seek after wealth by force,
or triumph in ill-gotten gain;
and even though your goods increase,
set not your heart on what is vain.

8 My God has spoken; I have heard that you are strong and loving, Lord.
Each one according to his deeds
you will assuredly reward.

63 O God, you are my God alone

4 Upon my bed I lie awake
and in my thoughts remember you;
I meditate throughout the night
and keep your constant love in view.

5 Because you are my help alone,
in shadow of your wings I'll sing.
You hold me up with your right hand;
to you, O God, my soul will cling.

6 All those who seek my life will die;
down to the depths they will descend.
They will become the jackal's food;
the deadly sword will bring their end.

7 The king will then rejoice in God,
with all who swear by God's great name.
The mouths of liars will be closed,
and they will all be put to shame.

for the human heart is full of guile.
God will shoot an arrow straight at them;
without warning they will be struck down.

5 They will all be made to trip themselves and undo themselves by their own tongues.
All who see them shake their heads in scorn;
then shall all the people fear the LORD.

6 They will ponder God's almighty deeds and proclaim the marvel of his works.

Come, everyone, and join with us

4 With gratitude and of-fer-ings I come into your house, for when I was in trouble, Lord, I spoke to you my vows.
I bring you now burnt of-fer-ings of fatlings from my herd;
I offer you my gift of thanks, because I gave my word.

5 Come, everyone who loves the Lord, hear what he did for me.
My cry for help has turned to praise, for he has set me free.
If in my heart I'd cherished sin, God would have turned away.
But he has listened to my cry; he answers when I pray.

6 Praise be to God, who hears my prayer and answers my request.
His steadfast love surrounds my days; his name be ever blest.
Come, everyone, and join with us in rousing songs of praise.
Sing out the honour of God's name for all his glorious ways.

67 O God, to us show mercy

Text: Psalter, 1887, alt. 76 76 D
Tune: Samuel S. Wesley, 1864 AURELIA

68 May God arise

4 When you, O God, went out and led your people through the desert plain – when through the wilderness you marched,
earth shook and heaven poured down rain
before the God of Sinai's hill,
before the God of Israèl.

5 O God, with showers you refreshed
your heritage so dry and bare.
And so your people settled down
and made their habitation there.
And from your overflowing store
you made provision for the poor.

6 The Lord announced his sovereign word;
a mighty crowd took up the shout,
and many women spread the news:
"See kings and armies put to rout!
They leave the fruits of battle's toil;
at home the women share the spoil.

7 "Although in open camp you sleep,
adorned with silver are your wings;
my dove, your feathers shine like gold."
When God Almighty scattered kings,
the land became like Zalmon steep
when on its slopes the snow lies deep.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 88 88 88
Tune: John Bishop, 1711 LEICESTER

May God arise

8 See Bashan's mountains rising high;
steep and majestic are its hills.
Why view in envy, rugged heights,
the hill where God forever dwells?
The mountain where he chose to reign –
there will the LORD himself remain.

9 The mighty char-i-ots of God
in tens of thousands now appear;
surrounded by unnumbered hosts,
the Lord himself is drawing near.
From Sinai he has come to fill his sanctuary on Zion's hill.

10 When you ascended up on high,
you led out captives after you.
From people you accepted gifts,
from those who once were rebels too.
And so, O LORD God, you have come to dwell in Zion as your home.

11 Praise to the Lord, our Saviour God;
our burdens daily he relieves.
Of our salvation he is God;
in truth he is a God who saves.
The Sovereign LORD defeats the grave;
he has the power from death to save.

12 The Lord will crush his enemies' heads,
the skulls of those who practise sin.
"From Bashan I will bring them down,
and from the sea's depths bring them in,
that you may plunge your feet in blood,
which dogs will lick up as their food."

13 The great procession comes in view –
the entry of my God and King
into the holy sanctuary.
Leading them all are those who sing;
then girls with tambourines appear;
musicians follow in the rear.

14 In the assembly praise the LORD and let God's praise be heard among the gathered tribes of Israèl.
See Judah's princes in a throng,
in front the tribe of Benjamin,
then Naphtali and Zebulun.

15 Your glorious power call forth, O God;
show us the strength at your command,
as you have done for us of old.
The kings of earth, from every land,
will bring their gifts to you in fear,
and worship at your temple here.

16 Rebuke the beast from Egypt's reeds,
the bulls with calves from every land;
may they with shame their tribute bring.
Disperse the tribes that war demand.
Let Egypt's envoys come to God,
and Cush bow down before the Lord.

17 O realms of earth, sing to the Lord,
to him who has his throne on high;
all kingdoms, join in praise to God,
whose chariot rides the ancient sky.
Now listen: he sends out his word,
a mighty thundering voice is heard.

18 Proclaim the mighty power of God,
whose glory shines on Israèl;
his strength is awesome in the heavens
and in the place he comes to dwell.
His people, Israel, God will raise to strength and might. To God be praise!

Tune: Strasbourg Psalter, 1539; harm. H. W. Wooldridge, c. 1899

God shall arise and by his might

5 Blest be the Lord, who on our way provides for us, and day by day
upholds us by his power.
God of salvation is his name;
this glorious name shall we proclaim.
He is our shield and tower.
Our God, the LORD, is strong to save from mortal danger, from the grave
and every cruel oppression.
But God will crush the head of foes,
the hairy crown of him who goes
in ways of foul transgression.

6 Praise God and magnify his worth,
O kings and kingdoms of the earth!
Unto the Lord sing praises,
to him who in the heavens rides,
who in the ancient skies resides,
from whence his voice he raises.
Ascribe then strength to God alone,
whose glory is in Israel known,
whose might is in the heavens.
He from his temple terror sows,
but on his people strength bestows.
To God let praise be given!

68c O Lord, thou hast ascended

69 Save me, O God; I sink in floods

4 My zeal for your most holy house has brought reproach and jest.
Foes' vulgar songs about my fate
leave me the more depressed.

5 In full assurance of your grace
I turn to you in prayer.
Deliver me from surging floods;
draw near, reach out in care.

6 Your steadfast mercy, LORD, is good;
hide not your face from me.
Hear my distress and answer, LORD;
make haste and set me free.

7 You know of my reproach and shame;
my heart despairs from grief.
I looked for pity, but I found no comfort or relief.

8 They gave me bitter gall for food,
and vinegar for thirst.
O may their deeds rebound on them,
a trap to leave them cursed.

9 In burning anger bring them low,
desert them, one and all;
for those chastised by you they taunt.
O LORD, their crimes recall.

10 Unworthy of salvation's bliss,
omit them from your book.
I am afflicted and in pain;
grant me your saving look!

11 My song of praise to you, O God,
is more than sacrifice.
The LORD still hears the needy ones;
he heeds the prisoners' cries.

12 Let heaven and earth and seas rejoice;
let all that move give praise.
All those that love God's name shall live
in Zion all their days.

Text: John Rogers, 2004, © Sing to the Lord, 2008 CMD

In you, O LORD, I put my trust

4 My foes are strong and confident,
they talk and make their plans:
“He is forsaken by his God,
he’ll fall into our hands.”
Do not be far, my God, from me;
make haste to hear my call.
Ashamed, consumed be all my foes,
dishonoured let them fall.

5 But I will hope continually,
and praise you more and more.
I will declare your righteousness,
your saving works adore.
The mighty deeds of God the LORD
I cannot comprehend;
but I will praise your righteousness
until my life shall end.

6 What you have taught in childhood days,
I, old and grey, tell forth
to generations coming on,
your deeds of power and worth.
Your righteousness is high as heaven.
Who can compare with you?
I’ve troubles known, yes, from your hand,
but you will bear me through.

7 You will restore my life again
and raise me from the grave.
With honour great you’ll comfort me,
when you my soul have saved.
O Israel’s holy, faithful One,
with lyre and harp I’ll praise.
Those who would hurt me you will shame.
I’ll praise you all my days.

5 Long may he live! May Sheba's gold

the tops of hills their harvest yield;
may they bear fruit like Lebanon and thrive as grass grows in the field.

6 Forever may his name endure;
may it continue as the sun.
All nations will be blest in him,
whom they will call the blessed one.
Praise to the LORD – to Israel's God;
his awesome deeds proclaim to men.
His name be praised eternally,
his glory fill the earth. Amen!

Tune: Melody adapted from a chorale in Filitz' Choralbuch, 1847 — MANNHEIM

This tune in a higher key:

Surely God is good to Israel

4 So their people, turning to them,
praise the wicked to the sky,
saying, “How can God control us?
Are we known to God Most High?”
Thus the wicked grow in riches,
all anxiety laid by.

5 Have I kept my heart for nothing,
washed my hands in innocence?
All day long your plagues are on me;
daily are my pains intense.
If I spoke thus, then your children
would have suffered great offence.

6 When I tried to understand this,
it was all too hard for me till I came into God’s temple –
then I saw their destiny;
for on slippery ground you place them
and destroy them utterly.

7 How they’re shattered in a moment,
swept away by sudden fear!
As a dream when one awakens,
so, O Lord, when you appear,
you will mock their aspirations,
and their hopes will disappear.

8 When my spirit was embittered
and my heart with grief brought low,
like a beast I was before you – dull, in understanding slow.
Yet, O Lord, you hold my right hand;
with you I will always go.

9 To your glory you will bring me
with your counsel as my guide.
I have none but you in heaven;
all on earth I lay aside.
Flesh and heart may fail, but ever
God my portion will abide.

10 Those far off from you will perish;
you give them their due reward.
As for me, it is a blessing to be near the Sovereign LORD.
I have made my God my refuge;
all your deeds I will record.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 11 10 11 10
Tune: Arranged from Felix Mendelssohn, 1809–1847 FELIX (RAYNOLDS)

Why, O my God, are we cast off?

5 Their thought was, “We will utterly destroy them!”
They burned each place of worship in the land.
We see no miracles; there are no prophets,
and no one knows when all these things will end.

6 How long, O God, will enemies revile you?
Forever will your foes blaspheme and scoff?
Why do you keep your right hand hidden from us?
Stretch it against your foes and cut them off!

7 But from of old, O God, you are my sovereign;
upon the earth you win the victory.
You split apart the ocean by your power;
you broke the monsters’ heads within the sea.

8 The heads of great Leviathan were shattered;
you gave him to the desert beasts to eat.
You were the one who opened streams and fountains;
you dried the rivers in the summer’s heat.

9 The day is yours; yours also is the night-time;
the sun and moon were put in place by you.
You set the limits of the earth by wisdom;
you made the summer and the winter too.

10 Remember how the enemy reviles you,
how foolish people never cease to mock.
Leave not your loved one for the beasts to savage;
do not abandon your afflicted flock.

11 Regard, O LORD, your covenant with your people, for haunts of violence fill the land with shame.
Let not defeat bring scorn on those downtrodden;
may yet the poor and needy praise your name.

12 Rise up, O God, defend your cause in judgment;
remember how fools mock you all the day.
Do not ignore the clamour of your enemies;
their hostile roaring never goes away.

75 We give you thanks, O God

4 No one in all the earth
can truly give renown.
God is the judge; he raises one and puts another down.

5 The LORD's hand holds a cup with wine of powerful blend;
he pours it out, and wicked ones
must drink it to the end.

6 God's works I will proclaim,
and Jacob's God I'll praise.
The wicked's strength I will destroy;
the righteous I will raise.

77 I cry out that God may hear me

Text: Berwyn Hoyt, 2004, rev. 2010, © Sing to the Lord, 2012 88 77 D
Tune: Genevan Psalter, 1551; harm. Henry Bruinsma, 1954, Psalter Hymnal, 1957 REMEMBRANCE

I cry out that God may hear me

4 Waters lifted in convulsion for the Lord of all creation.
Rain poured from the clouds on high; flashing arrows filled the sky.
Through the sea, by footprints hidden, and by whirlwind, thunder-ridden, you led to the promised land your own flock by Moses' hand.

78 O my people, hear my teaching

4 Then to God they would be faithful, mindful of what he had done –
not like their disloyal fathers, stubborn rebels every one;
for God's word they had denied
and his precepts they defied.

5 Such were those of Ephraim's army who, though strong and armed with bows,
to the covenant were disloyal,
turned their back upon their foes.
They forgot what God had done
and the wonders he had shown.

6 He showed wonders to their fathers
while they were in Egypt's land – split the sea and led them through it,
waters heaped on either hand.
With the cloud he led by day;
fire by night revealed their way.

7 In the desert God brought water from the rock to quench their thirst – waters brimming like the ocean, streams from rocky crags that burst.
But they always would defy and reject him, God Most High.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 87 87 77
Tune: Charles F. Gounod, 1872 LUX PRIMA (GOUNOD)

O my people, hear my teaching

8 They provoked God in the desert:
"Can he satisfy our taste?
When he struck the rock, it opened,
down the crag the waters raced.
Now our thirst is satisfied,
can he food for us provide?"

9 When the LORD heard, he was angry,
and his wrath broke out like fire;
Jacob knew his fierce displeasure,
Israèl his righteous ire.
Faith in God they cast aside
and his saving power denied.

10 To the skies he gave the order;
heaven's doors he opened wide.
Manna rained down for his people;
grain of heaven he supplied.
Angels' bread lay at their feet;
they had all that they could eat.

11 From the heavens he loosed the east wind,
led the south wind forth with power.
Meat, like dust, he rained upon them,
birds like sand upon the shore.
In the camp came down the quail,
all around their tents like hail.

12 Thus in gluttony they feasted,
for he gave them their desire.
But, before they finished eating,
God's displeasure blazed like fire.
So their stoutest warriors fell,
and the youth of Israèl.

13 Still they disbelieved his wonders,
kept on sinning nonetheless.
So he closed their days in terror
and their years in emptiness.
When he punished them, they turned,
and with zeal for him they burned.

14 God their Rock they then remembered,
their Redeemer, God Most High;
but their words were meant to flatter,
what they told him was a lie.
In their hearts they were untrue;
from his covenant they withdrew.

15 Yet in mercy he forgave them;
from destruction he refrained.
Many times he curbed his anger
and his utmost wrath restrained.
That they were but flesh, he knew –
like a passing breeze that blew.

16 How they grieved him in the desert, ever ready to rebel – vexed the Holy One and tested
the great God of Israèl!
They forgot his wonders shown to them in the fields of Zoan.

17 They forgot his signs in Egypt,
when from hardship they were saved,
when to blood he turned its river,
making foul the drink they craved.
God sent swarms of flies to bite,
hordes of frogs their land to blight.

18 He gave Egypt's crops to locusts,
and the swarms ate all their store.
Freezing rain destroyed their fig trees,
and the hail their vineyards tore.
Hailstones battered all their stock;
lightning bolts their cattle struck.

19 Egypt felt his indignation,
dread hostility and wrath.
By his angels of destruction
for his rage he made a path.
E'en from death he did not spare;
mortal plague he made them bear.

20 All the firstborn sons of Egypt
in the tents of Ham he struck.
But from there he led his people
through the desert like a flock.
Fearless, they were safely led;
in the sea their foes lay dead.

21 To his holy land he brought them,
to the hills seized by his hand;
He drove nations out before them
and assigned to them their land,
where, as their inheritance,
Israel's tribes found residence.

O my people, hear my teaching

25 Then the Lord awoke from slumber, as a man with wine replete wakes recovered from his stupor.
Then he made his foes retreat;
like a rabble they became,
put to everlasting shame.

26 He passed by the tents of Joseph and the tribe of Ephraim;
but he chose the tribe of Judah,
and Mount Zion, loved by him.
There he built his dwelling sure,
like the earth, to stand secure.

27 So he chose his servant David,
bringing him from tending sheep,
to be shepherd of his people,
God's inheritance to keep.
Faithfully by David fed,
they with skilful hands were led.

Lord, the nations have invaded

4 Charge us not with the transgressions
of our forebears long ago;
may your mercy come to meet us –
you have brought us very low.
Help us, Lord, our God and Saviour,
for the glory of your name.
For your name's sake come and save us;
take away our sin and shame.

5 Why should all the other nations
say to us, "Where is your God?"
Make the peoples know your vengeance
for your servants' outpoured blood.
May the groans of every prisoner
come before your throne on high;
by your arm outstretched in power
save all those condemned to die.

6 Lord, remember how our neighbours treat you with contempt and scorn;
and into their laps deliver sevenfold judgment in return.
Then shall we, the sheep you pasture,
worship and adore your name,
and through every generation
your unending praise proclaim.

80 Hear, O Israel's Shepherd

4 You have fed us bread of sorrow;
tears in plenty we must shed.
We are now before our neighbours humbled and discredited.

5 Look on us, O God Almighty;
let us see your glory bright.
Turn us once again toward you;
come and save us, give us light!

6 Once you brought a vine from Egypt,
drove out kings with mighty hand,
set the vine in ground made ready;
it took root and filled the land.

7 So its branches clothed the mountains,
shading every cedar tree,
spreading from the great Euphrates
to the mighty western Sea.

Tune: John Stainer, 1889 LOVE DIVINE

Hear, O Israel's Shepherd

8 Why did you break down its fences,
so that all may pluck its fruit?
Creatures of the field devour it;
wild boars tear it from the root.

9 Turn to us, O God Almighty, look and see from heaven above!
Tend this vine your hand has planted
and the son you raised in love.

10 See your vine cut down and withered,
and its branches burned with fire;
your rebuke has crushed your people,
and they perish in your ire.

11 Let your hand be placed in blessing on the man at your right hand –
on the son of man you've chosen,
whom alone you caused to stand.

12 Then we will not wander from you,
turning from you to our shame.
Strengthen us, revive and heal us;
then we'll call upon your name.

13 Look on us, LORD God Almighty;
let us see your glory bright.
Turn us once again toward you;
come and save us, give us light!

Sing for joy to God

4 “I, who brought you up from Egypt,
your own God, the LORD, am I;
open wide your mouth toward me,
and your food I will supply.
But my people would not listen –
would not do what I required.
So I gave them up to follow
what their stubborn hearts desired.

5 “If my people would but heed me,
Israel follow my command,
I would soon subdue their enemies,
and against them turn my hand.
Those who hate the LORD would cower,
and their doom would never end.
But with finest wheat I’d feed you, honey from the rock I’d send.”

Bb trumpet (stanza 1)

81b Sing a psalm of joy!

4 "O my people, hear;
when I call you, listen.
Choose no foreign god –
listen to my plea.
Have no god but me;
come and be forgiven.

5 "I, the LORD your God,
brought you out of Egypt.
I removed your yoke,
all your needs supplied.
Open your mouth wide:
surely I will fill it.

6 "Oh, that Israel
would but hear my pleading!
Oh, that they would turn,
walk upon my path;
I would pour my wrath
on their foes unheeding.

7 "With the finest wheat
I, your LORD, would feed you.
Honey from the rock
I would gladly give
that you all might live.
Hear me, O my people."

4 Like the tumbleweed disperse them,
like the chaff before the breeze.
As the flames lay waste the mountains
or the fire consumes the trees,
so pursue them with your tempest;
may your storm bring fear and shame.
LORD, bring them humiliation,
so that they may seek your name.

5 May they be ashamed forever;
let dismay be on their face.
May they be destroyed completely;
let them perish in disgrace.
LORD, make known your name among them;
show that you alone are God –
that you are the Most High, ruling
over all the earth abroad.

Tune: Justin H. Knecht, 1799, and Edward Husband, 1871 — ST. EDITH (ST. HILDA)

O LORD of hosts, how lovely

4 LORD God of hosts, in mercy
my supplication hear;
almighty and all-faithful,
our fathers' God, give ear.
Our shield and great defender,
no longer hide thy face,
but look upon thy servant,
anointed by thy grace.

5 In thy blest courts to worship,
my God, a single day
is better than a thousand while far from thee I stray.
Though in a lowly station,
the service of my Lord
I choose above all pleasures that sinful ways afford.

6 A sun and shield forever
is God, the LORD Most High;
to those who walk uprightly
no good will he deny.
His saints, his grace receiving,
shall soon his glory see;
O LORD of hosts, most blessed are they that trust in thee.

4 In the lowest pit you cast me;
in the darkest depths am I.
For your wrath is heavy on me,
and beneath your waves I lie.

5 Closest friends you've taken from me;
loathsome to them is my plight.
I am trapped – escape I cannot;
misery has dimmed my sight.

6 Daily, LORD, I call upon you;
in your sight my hands I spread.
In the grave do you show wonders?
Are you worshipped by the dead?

7 Is your love shown in Destruction –
in the grave your faithfulness?
Are your wonders known in darkness,
or in death your righteousness?

8 But I cry to you for help, LORD;
at the dawn to you I pray.
Why, O LORD, do you reject me,
and why turn your face away?

9 From my youth I've been afflicted;
death to me is always near.
I have undergone your terrors,
and I am in deep despair.

10 Your fierce anger has engulfed me;
by your terrors I am crushed.
All day long they overwhelm me;
over me the flood has rushed.

11 You have taken my companions
and my loved ones far from me.
Now my closest friend is darkness;

I will extol the LORD's great love

4 For God is feared within his holy council,
more awesome than the angels all around.
O God, the LORD Almighty, who is like you whom such great might and faithfulness surround?

5 O LORD, your rule controls the surging ocean;
you still the raging waves upon the seas.
Rahab you crushed to death with your great power;
with your strong arm you rout your enemies.

6 The earth is yours, to you belong the heavens;
you made the world and everything therein.
By you the north and south were both created;
Tabor and Hermon praise your name and sing.

7 Your arm, O LORD, is filled with mighty power;
your hand is strong, exalted high above.
Your throne is built on righteousness and justice;
before your face go faithfulness and love.

8 How blest are those who learn to sing your praises,
who walk before you in your light, O LORD!
All day in your great name they are rejoicing;
they praise your righteousness with one accord.

9 For you, LORD, are your people's strength and glory,
and honour to our sov-er-eign you bring.
Indeed, from God the LORD comes our protection;
to Israel's Holy One belongs our king.

I’ll punish with the rod all their transgression,
their sin with blows inflicted by my hand.

17 “But I will never take my love from David;
my faithfulness I never will betray.
Nor will I ever violate my covenant
or alter what I said in any way.

18 “Once have I sworn in holiness to David –
I will not lie to him – I will declare that David’s line forever will continue,
and on his throne he’ll always have an heir.

19 “His throne will ever flourish in my presence;
it will continue like the sun on high.
I’ll make it certain, like the moon in heaven,
which is a faithful witness in the sky.”

But you, O LORD, have spurned

24 How long, LORD? Will you hide yourself forever?
How long will your fierce anger on us fall?
Remember that my life is swift and fleeting.
For what futility you made us all!

25 For who can live and be secure from dying,
or who resist the pow-er of the grave?
O Lord, where is your former love for David,
whom in your faithfulness you swore to save?

26 Remember, Lord, how they have mocked your servant,
how in my heart I bear the taunts of men;
your foes have mocked and scorned the LORD's anointed.
But ever let the LORD be praised! Amen.

90 Lord, you have been our dwelling place

Tune: Joseph Barnby, 1871 ST. CHRYSOSTOM
This tune in a lower key: 12

Lord, you have been our dwelling place

4 For by your anger we're consumed,
and by your wrath to terror doomed.
Our sins you set before your sight,
our secret sins in your clear light.
Beneath your wrath we fade and die;
our years are finished with a sigh.

5 For some life's years are seventy;
perhaps the strong may eighty see.
Yet is their best but toil and woe;
all quickly ends; how soon we go!
Who has your anger understood?
Who fears your fury as he should?

6 Teach us to count aright our days,
to set our hearts in wisdom's ways.
Return, O LORD! When will it be?
Let us, your servants, mercy see.
Your grace send with the morning rays;
we'll sing for joy through all our days.

7 Give joy that answers all the tears,
the troubles in those days and years.
Your work to all your children show;
your glory on their sons bestow.
O Lord our God, let favour rest;
our works confirm, our labours bless.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 — 10 10 10 10
Tune: Walter Greatorex, 1916, alt. — WOODLANDS

The one whose dwelling is with God

4 No harm will touch you though a thousand fall, or yet ten thousand die at your right hand.
Your eyes will then look on, and you will see the wicked punished as their ways demand.

5 If you make God Most High your dwelling place –
even the LORD, who is my refuge sure –
no evil then will ever fall on you,
nor dire calamity come near your door.

6 For he will charge his angels with your care,
to guard you in your footsteps every one;
they will uphold and bear you in their hands,
lest you should strike your foot against a stone.

7 Upon the mighty lion you will tread;
the cobra you will overcome and kill.
Your feet will trample down the king of beasts;
the serpent will be crushed beneath your heel.

8 "Because he loves me," says the Sovereign LORD,
"I'll rescue and deliver him from harm.
Since he acknowledges my holy name,
I will protect him with my mighty arm.

9 "He'll call on me, and I will answer him;
with him in time of trouble I will be.
I will deliver him and honour him.
Long will he live, and my salvation see."

PSALM

92 How good it is to thank the LORD

4 O LORD, you have exalted me with royal strength and dignity.
With your anointing I am blest;
your grace and favour on me rest.
My eyes have seen the wicked die;
my ears have heard their hopeless cry.

5 The righteous all will flourish well
and in the house of God will dwell.
They will be planted like a tree,
will still in old age fruitful be.
The LORD our God is upright, just;
he is my rock; in him I trust.

94 Almighty LORD God

4 The people you teach and discipline, LORD,
are happy and blest to learn from your word.
For you grant relief to all those in despair,
allowing them peace till the wicked are snared.

5 O LORD, you will not abandon your own nor ever forsake or leave them alone.
Your justice will dawn for all those who do right,
and those who are upright will follow its light.

Tune: Charles H. Gabriel, 1912 ASPINWALL

Almighty LORD God

6 Who helps me to fight sin's mighty offence?
Who will be my shield and my sure defence?
Unless GOD had helped me when evil oppressed,
I too would have slipped into silence and death.

7 Whenever I fall, I pleadingly cry;
then your loving hand, LORD, holds me up high.
If my heart should doubt and be filled with despair,
your comfort brings joy, and I know that you care.

8 Corruption cannot be allied with you;
injustice cannot be legal or true.
For you, LORD, will never conspire with our foes
who gather together, increasing our woes.

9 The LORD is my rock, invincible, strong;
he punishes all who perpetrate wrong.
Our GOD will repay them for sins they have sown,
but he will have mercy and love for his own.

95 Now with joyful exultation

4 While he offers peace and pardon let us hear his voice today, lest, if we our hearts should harden, we should perish in the way;
lest to us, so unbelieving, he in judgment shall declare:
"You, so long my spirit grieving, never in my rest can share."

Text: Psalter, 1912, alt. 11 10 11 9
Tune: Lowell Mason, 1830 WESLEY

Sing to the LORD, sing his praise

4 Give unto GOD Most High glory and honour;
come with your offerings and humbly draw near.
Worship the LORD in all beauty and splendour;
tremble before him with godly fear.

5 Say to the nations, “The LORD reigns forever.”
Earth is established as he did decree.
Righteous and just is the king of the nations,
judging the peoples with equity.

6 Let heaven and earth be glad; oceans, be joyful;
forest and field, exultation express.
For GOD is coming, the judge of the nations,
coming to judge in his righteousness.

97 Jehovah reigns, let earth be glad!

4 All those who worship images are put to everlasting shame;
their worthless idols are their boast –
you gods, bow down before his name!

5 To Zion's hill and Judah's towns
your judgments, LORD, great joy supply.
Above the earth and all the gods exalted is the LORD Most High.

6 Hate evil, you who love the LORD;
his faithful ones he will defend,
and from the hands of wicked men
to them deliverance he will send.

7 Upon the righteous light will shine,
and joy on those of upright ways.
You righteous, in the LORD rejoice,
and to his holy name give praise.

5 My eyes are on the faithful ones,

whoever lives a blameless life

6 No one who practises deceit

7 Each morning I will silence all who wicked deeds have done;
I'll cleanse the city of the LORD

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 66 66 88
Tune: John Ireland, 1918 LOVE UNKNOWN

LORD, listen to my prayer

4 For ashes are my food;
I weep incessantly
because in your great wrath
you have abandoned me.
My days like evening shadows pass;
I wither like the sun-dried grass.

5 But you, O LORD, are set forever on your throne;
through each succeeding age
endures your great renown.
You will arise in mighty power;
on Zion mercy you will shower.

6 The set time now has come to bless Jerusalem.
Her stones your saints hold dear;
her dust is mourned by them.
Nations will fear your name, O LORD;
all kings on earth your praise record.

7 For God will yet appear in glorious might to reign;
the LORD in grace will build Jerusalem again.
The prayers of all the poor he'll heed;
he will not spurn their cry of need.

8 Let this be written down
to teach a future race,
so people yet unborn
may magnify his grace:
that from his holy place above
the LORD looked down in tender love.

9 From heaven he viewed the earth,
observing all mankind,
to hear the groans of those
in prison cells confined,
and to deliver from on high
a multitude condemned to die.

10 In Zion will be praised the LORD's exalted name;
his praises will be sung
within Jerusalem,
when peoples and their kingdoms throng
to serve the LORD with cheerful song.

11 He took my strength away
by his almighty power;
he shortened grievously
my life's allotted hour.
I said, "O take me not away,
my God, at noontide of my day.

12 "Your days and years go on through every age of man.
The earth's foundation strong
you laid when time began.
The heavens came at your command,
created by your mighty hand.

13 "The earth and heavens will fail,
but you alone remain.
Like garments they will age,
while you on high will reign.
Like clothing you will change them all;
like clothes discarded they will fall.

14 "But you endure always;
your years will never cease.
Your servants' children too
will know your reign of peace.
Their offspring, their succeeding race,
will ever stand before your face."

Praise GOD, my soul!

4 As far as east is from the west,
so far his love has borne away
our many sins and trespasses
and all the guilt that on us lay.
Just as a father loves his child,
so GOD loves those who fear his name.
For he remembers we are dust,
and well he knows our feeble frame.

5 Each human life is like the grass,
and like a meadow flower it grows.
Its place will never be recalled
once over it the tempest blows.
But everlasting is GOD's love
for those who fear him, and their seed –
for those who keep his covenant,
and carefully his precepts heed.

6 GOD's kingly rule is over all;
in heav-en he has set his throne.
O you his angels, praise the LORD,
strong ones by whom his will is done.
O praise the LORD, you heavenly hosts,
his servants who perform his word.
Praise GOD, his works throughout his realm,
and you, my soul, O praise the LORD!

103b O come my soul, bless thou the LORD

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957 — 11 10 11 10 with refrain
Tune: James Walch, 1875 — TIDINGS

O come my soul, bless thou the LORD

4 We fade and die like flowers that grow in beauty,
like tender grass that soon will disappear;
but evermore the love of GOD is changeless,
still shown to those who look to him in fear.

5 High in the heavens his throne is fixed forever,
his kingdom rules o'er all from pole to pole.
Bless ye the LORD through all his wide dominion;
bless his most holy name, O thou my soul.

PSALM

104 My soul, bless the LORD!

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957, alt. 10 10 11 11
Tune: Henry J. Gauntlett, 1861 HOUGHTON

My soul, bless the LORD!

5 Down mountains and hills your showers are sent.
With fruit of your work the earth is content.
You give grass for cattle and food for our toil,
enriching our labours with bread, wine, and oil.

6 The trees which the LORD has planted are fed,
and over the earth their branches are spread;
they keep in their shelter the birds of the air.
The life of each creature the LORD makes his care.

7 The seasons are fixed by wisdom divine.
The slow-changing moon shows forth God's design.
The sun in its circuit its Maker obeys
and, running its journey, hastes not nor delays.

8 The LORD makes the night, when, leaving their lair,
the lions go forth, God's bounty to share.
The LORD makes the morning, when beasts steal away
and man is beginning his work of the day.

9 How many and wise the works of the LORD!
The earth with its wealth of creatures is stored.
The sea bears in safety the ships to and fro;
Leviathan plays in the waters below.

10 Your creatures all look to you for their food;
your hand opens wide, they gather the good.
When you hide your face, LORD, in anguish they yearn;
when you stop their breath, then to dust they return.

11 Your Spirit, O LORD, makes life to abound,
the earth is renewed, and fruitful the ground.
To GOD ascribe glory and wisdom and might;
let GOD in his creatures forever delight.

12 Before the LORD's might earth trembles and quakes,
the mountains are rent, and smoke from them breaks.
The LORD I will worship through all of my days,
yes, while I have being, my God I will praise.

13 Rejoicing in GOD, my thought shall be sweet.
May sinners depart in ruin complete.
My soul, bless Jehovah – his name be adored.
Come, praise him, all people, and worship the LORD.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 11 11 11 11 D
Tune: Jonathan E. Spilman, 1812–1896 AFTON

Give thanks to the LORD God

4 The LORD called down famine upon the whole land;
their food was destroyed at his sovereign command.
But he sent beforehand, his people to save,
his chosen one, Joseph, sold off as a slave.
His feet within shackles of bronze were confined,
his neck put in irons; for freedom he pined.
The word of the LORD was a test to be passed till what he foretold was accomplished at last.

5 The king sent an order to let him go free;
the ruler of nations gave him liberty.
He put him in charge of his house and his lands;
his princes and elders obeyed his commands.
Then Israel came down into Egypt to stay,
in Ham's land to sojourn for many a day.
The LORD caused his people to prosper and grow,
and so they were seen as a threat to their foe.

6 He turned the Egyptians against Israèl,
and caused them to plot his own servants to kill.
Then Moses and Aaron, his chosen, he sent;
performing his wonders, to Egypt they went.
Because the Egyptians despised his command,
he sent utter darkness to cover the land.
Their waters and rivers he turned into blood;
the fish of the Nile were destroyed by the LORD.

Unto the LORD lift thankful voices

4 Ye seed from Abraham descended,
to whom his favours were extended,
and Jacob's children, whom the LORD
has chosen, hearken to his word.
He is the LORD, our judge divine;
in all the earth his glories shine.

5 Jehovah's truth will stand forever,
his covenant-bonds he will not sever;
the word of grace which he commands
to thousand generations stands;
the covenant made in days of old
with Abraham he doth uphold.

6 The LORD his covenant people planted in lands of nations which he granted, that they his statutes might observe,
nor from his laws might ever swerve.
Let songs of praise to him ascend,
and hallelujahs without end.

106 Praise the LORD! Extol his goodness!

4 Yet for his name's sake he saved them
and revealed his mighty hand.
By his word the Sea he parted,
led them through as on dry land –
from the hand of foes set free, rescued from the enemy.

5 Then their adversaries foundered;
not a single one survived.
So the people sang his praises,
and his promises believed;
but his works they soon forgot,
and his counsel set at naught.

6 In the desert they surrendered
to their unremitting greed;
in the wasteland they provoked him,
craving meat they did not need.
So he gave them what they sought,
but on them disease he brought.

7 In the camp they envied Moses,
Aaron too – GOD's priest was he.
Earth was split and swallowed Dathan
and Abiram's company;
there they fell, consumed by flame –
those who had abused God's name.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 87 87 77
Tune: Joachim Neander, 1680 NEANDER

Praise the LORD! Extol his goodness!

8 Then they made a calf at Horeb – served an idol cast in clay;
they exchanged their highest glory
for a bull that feeds on hay.
God their saviour they forgot,
who for them great things had wrought.

9 They forgot his deeds in Egypt,
marvels in the land of Ham.
So he said he would destroy them –
had not Moses, his own man, stood before God in the path,
shielding them from righteous wrath.

10 Then they scorned the land of plenty;
they did not believe his word.
In their tents they grumbled at him,
and did not obey the LORD.
So he vowed, with upraised hand,
they would fall in desert sand.

11 Their descendants he would punish – scatter over lands abroad.
Yet they yoked themselves to Baal,
worshipping a lifeless god.
Their transgressions God abhorred;
so a plague came from the LORD.

12 But when Phinehas took action
and ungodliness defied,
then the deadly plague was halted,
and his deed was ratified
by the LORD as rightly done,
for the ages yet to come.

13 When at Meribah's still waters
they provoked the LORD again,
they rebelled against God's Spirit, causing Moses bitter pain –
for he spoke, possessed by grief, rashly and in unbelief.

14 They did not destroy the peoples
in accord with GOD's command, but they mixed with them, and followed
all the customs of the land,
worshipping the idols there,
which to them became a snare.

15 Sons they sacrificed and daughters
to a Canaanitish god;
thus the land was desecrated
by the stain of guiltless blood.
By their acts they were defiled –
into filthiness beguiled.

16 So the LORD was angry with them,
and his people he abhorred –
gave them over to the nations,
and their foe became their lord.
Subject to their enemy,
they were treated cruelly.

17 Many times he showed his power
by de-liv-er-ing his own,
but they set their heart on sinning
and rebelled against his throne.
In their sin they chose to stay,
and they wasted quite away.

18 But when they appealed for mercy,
he took note in heaven above;
he recalled his covenant with them
and relented in his love.
So he made their captors all pity those they held in thrall.

19 Gather us, LORD, from the nations;
save us, and your name we'll praise.
Blessèd be the God of Israel;
may his glory last always.
Let the LORD be praised again!
Let the people say, "Amen!"

O thank the LORD, for he is good

4 Some sat in darkness and in gloom, in chains of iron held;
they scorned the ways of God Most High, against his words rebelled.
And so he made them labour hard in bitterness and shame.
They stumbled, and they could not rise; to help them no one came.

5 Then to the LORD they cried for help; he saved them from their doom.
He broke away their cruel chains and brought them out of gloom.
So let them thank him for his love, the deeds which he achieves – because he breaks down gates of bronze and iron bars he cleaves.

6 Some erred through their rebellious ways and for their sins paid dear.
All kinds of food revolted them; the gates of death drew near.
Then in despair they sought the LORD; he saved them from their doom.
His word went forth with healing power and kept them from the tomb.

7 So for the LORD's unfailing love let them give thanks again, and for the awesome deeds of power which he achieves for men.
Let them prepare a sacrifice and bring an offering;
in praise of all his mighty acts let them rejoice and sing.

8 Yet others traded on the sea; they sailed the ocean's length.
They saw the wonders of the LORD, and on the deep his strength.
For when he spoke, a tempest rose; the sea grew wild and rough.
They mounted up to heaven and then went down into the trough.

9 At this their courage fled away, for danger was in view.
They reeled and staggered as with drink; they knew not what to do.
Then in despair they sought the LORD, who saved them from distress.
He stilled the storm, so that the waves were hushed in quietness.

10 Their joy was great when it grew calm; they anchored safe again.
Then let them thank him for his love, his awesome deeds for men.
So in the elders' council may they ever praise the LORD;
and in the people's gathering let them exalt their GOD.

11 He changed the streams to wilderness, fresh springs to desert bare, and fruitful land to barren waste, for sins of dwellers there.
He changed parched ground to flowing streams; the hungry there he led to found a city safe and strong, which they inhabited.

12 They reaped a fruitful harvest from the vineyard and the field.
He blessed and made them multiply; their herds maintained their yield.
They faced decline, their fortunes fell, they suffered great distress.
Brought low by him who scorns the proud, they roamed the wilderness.

13 But he did not abandon them; he brought the needy folk from their affliction and increased their families like a flock.
The upright see this and are glad; the wicked hold their peace.
Let all the wise take note and learn the LORD's love does not cease.

108 O LORD God, my heart is steadfast

4 Far above the highest heavens
be exalted, O my God;
and through all the earth around us
let your glory spread abroad.

5 With your right hand save and help us;
rescue all those whom you love.
God has spoken from his temple,
from his holy place above:

6 "I will distribute in triumph
every part of Shechem's land,
and the whole of Succoth valley
I will measure with my hand.

7 "Mine is Gilead, mine Manasseh,
Ephraim is my helmet true;
Judah I will make my sceptre
and on Edom toss my shoe.

8 "Moab will become my servant,
and upon Philistia's shore
I will shout aloud in triumph;
I am Lord and conqueror."

9 Who will bring me to the city that is strongly fortified,
and to reach the land of Edom
who will be my help and guide?

10 Have you not, O God, rejected, turned us over to our foe?
When our armies go to battle,
with them you no longer go.

11 Since all human help is worthless,
God will give us victory;
He it is who will defend us
and tread down our enemy.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003 — 87 87 D
Tune: Frizzoni's Canzuns Spirituaelas, 1765 — ENGADINE

O my God, whose name I worship

4 May no one take pity on him or his orphans in their plight.
May his family line be ended, and their names be lost to sight.
May the LORD remember ever all his parents' sin and shame.
May their sin be held against them, and forgotten be their name.

5 For he never thought of helping those in trouble or distress;
but to death the poor he hounded, and the weak and comfortless.
He was always cursing others – may his curse on him rebound;
he took no delight in blessing – far from him may it be found.

6 He wore cursing as his garment – to his bones it soaked like oil;
it poured down his throat like water. May his curses round him coil.
May they cling to him forever, wrapped around him like a cloak.
May this be the LORD's repayment to those false, accusing folk.

7 But, O Sovereign LORD, in mercy deal with me for your name's sake;
save me in your love and goodness, and my life from danger take.
For I am both poor and needy; crushed within me is my heart.
I am feeble, like an insect; like a shadow I depart.

8 See, my knees give way from fasting; and my frame is thin and gaunt.
My accusers, when they see me, shake their heads at me and taunt.
LORD my God, draw near and help me; save me in your steadfast love.
Let them know your hand has done it, that my help comes from above.

9 They may curse, but you will bless me, and your servant will give praise.
Clothed with shame be my accusers, my attackers with disgrace.
I will loudly sing GOD's praises and extol him in the throng;
for he helps and saves the needy from all those who do them wrong.

110 The LORD unto my Lord has said

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1987 CMD
Tune: Henry S. Cutler, 1872 ALL SAINTS NEW

111 O give the LORD wholehearted praise

4 God's promise shall forever stand;
he cares for those who trust his word.
Upon his saints his mighty hand
the wealth of nations has conferred.

5 His works are true and just indeed;
his precepts are forever sure.
In truth and righteousness decreed,
they shall forevermore endure.

6 From him his saints' redemption came;
his covenant sure no change can know;
let all revere his holy name
in heaven above and earth below.

7 In reverence and in godly fear man finds the gate to wisdom's ways;
the wise his holy name revere.
Through endless ages sound his praise.

112 How blest the man who fears the LORD

4 Of evil tidings not afraid,
his trust is in the LORD alone.
His heart is steadfast, undismayed,
for he shall see his foes o'erthrown.

5 With kind remembrance of the poor,
for their distress his gifts provide.
His righteousness shall thus endure;
his name in honour shall abide.

6 To shame the wicked shall be brought,
while righteous men shall favour gain.
Unrighteous hopes shall come to naught;
its due reward shall sin obtain.

4 All you that fear him and adore,

I love the LORD

4 Rest, O my soul; GOD has been good to you – for you, O LORD, have saved my soul from death,
my feet from stumbling, and my eyes from tears,
that I may live for you while I have breath.

5 I trusted in the LORD, and then I spoke;
I said in anguish: “I am sorely tried.”
And in the very depths of my dismay,
“All men are liars – every one!” I cried.

6 How can I thank the LORD for all he’s done?
With gratitude salvation’s cup I’ll raise;
I’ll call upon his name, and will fulfil
my vows to him before his people’s face.

7 The LORD holds dear the death of all his saints.
Hear me, O LORD! I am your servant true;
I am your servant and your handmaid’s son,
and from my chains I have been freed by you.

8 Thank offerings I will sacrifice to you and call upon the name of God the LORD.
When all his people in assembly meet,
with joy I will fulfil my solemn word.

9 Before his people I will keep my vows,
within the courts of GOD’s own holy place,
within the city of Jerusalem.
Unto the LORD alone be all the praise!

Tune: Genevan Psalter, 1562; — SACRIFICE OF PRAISE

I love the LORD, the fount of life

4 The LORD preserves the meek most tenderly;
brought nigh to death, in him I found salvation.
Come, thou my soul, relieved from agitation,
turn to thy rest; the LORD has favoured thee.

5 Thou, O Jehovah, in thy sovereign grace,
hast saved my soul from death and woe appalling,
dried all my tears, secured my feet from falling.
Lo, I shall live and walk before thy face.

6 I have believed, and therefore did I speak
when I was made to suffer tribulation;
I said in haste and bitter desperation:
"All men are false, 'tis naught but lies they speak."

7 What shall I render to Jehovah now for all the riches of his consolation?
With joy I'll take the cup of his salvation
and call upon his name with thankful vow.

8 Before his saints I'll pay my vows to GOD;
e'en in death's vale he keepeth me from evil;
how dear to GOD the dying of his people!
Praise him, ye saints, and sound his name abroad.

9 I am, O LORD, thy servant, bound yet free,
thy handmaid's son, whose shackles thou hast broken;
redeemed by grace I'll render as a token of gratitude my constant praise to thee.

10 Jerusalem! Within thy courts I'll praise Jehovah's name, and with a spirit lowly pay all my vows. O Zion, fair and holy,
come join with me and bless him all thy days!

117 Praise Jehovah, all ye nations

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957 — 87 87 D
Tune: Dutch traditional melody, 1710 — IN BABILONE

118 – Part 1 O thank the LORD

4 The LORD is with me constantly;
he is the one who gives me aid.
I'll look in triumph on my foes;
I will not need to be afraid.

5 It's better far to trust the LORD
than look for help to man's defence.
It's better far to trust the LORD
than in a prince have confidence.

6 The nations all surrounded me;
in GOD's great name I made them fall.
They hemmed me in on every side;
in GOD's great name I slew them all.

7 They chased me like a swarm of bees;
but like a heap of thorns aflame
they very quickly met their end.
I slew them in the LORD's great name.

8 I was pushed back and nearly fell;
the LORD himself gave help to me.
He is my song and source of strength;
the LORD gave me the victory.

it is a marvel in our sight.

his glorious light upon us fall.
Let us approach the altar's horns

you are my God, I'll give you praise.

Give thanks to GOD

4 The stone the builders had rejected is now the foremost cornerstone.
The LORD has done it, we have seen it –
his ways confound what we had known.
This is the day of days: GOD made it!
And we are glad, we praise his name:
"Save us and let us know your blessing.
Your love forever is the same."

5 Our voices join in glad confession:
"GOD's love forever is the same."
Most blest is he in our procession
who comes triumphant in GOD's name.
Let branches mark the way before him,
and at the altar hail his fame.
"You are my God and I will praise you:
Your love forever is the same!"

Praise the LORD, all you his servants!

Og of Bashan and King Sihon, all the kings of Canaan's land.
All their lands he gave to Jacob, to his people Israel;
as a heritage he gave them lands where they might safely dwell.

5 LORD, your name endures forever; your renown is ever great.
For the LORD sustains his servants and his folk will vindicate.
But the idols of the nations, made of silver and of gold,
are by human hands created with a hammer or a mould.

6 Mouths they have, but speak they cannot; eyes they have, but cannot see.
Ears they have, but hear they cannot; in their mouths no breath can be.
Those who make them will be like them; those who trust them are the same.
Praise the LORD, O house of Levi; Aaron's house, exalt his name.

Thank him who struck down mighty kings –
his love endures forever –
and slaughtered kings of great renown –
his love will fail us never –

5 King Sihon of the Amorites –
God's love endures forever –
and Og, the king of Bashan, too;
God's love will fail us never.
He made their lands a heritage –
his love endures forever –
for his own servant Israel;
his love will fail us never.

6 He thought upon us in our need;
his love endures forever;
and freed us from our enemies;
his love will fail us never.

Give thanks to God, the God of heaven;

O GOD, you search me

4 Where can I go, LORD, from your Spirit?
Oh, to flee from you I know not where.
If I rise up to heaven, there I find you,
and if in death I seek refuge, you are there.

5 If e'en the wings of dawn should hide me,
or the distant reaches of the sea,
even there will your loving hand still guide me,
and with your right hand, so strong, lay hold on me.

6 If I think darkness should protect me
and the light should hide me from your sight ...
But the night and the light alike to you are;
even the darkness, as day, to you is bright.

7 For all my being you created;
in my mother's womb you knit the whole.
What a fearful and wondrous thing you've made, LORD!
I know it well – O give thanks to God, my soul.

8 My frame could not be hidden from you
when in secret depths you shaped my form.
And my days were all numbered and recorded,
each one ordained though I had not yet been born.

9 How precious are your thoughts to me, God.
Their great sum – it's more than I can view!
Should I count them, the sand they would outnumber.
When I awake, I find I am still with you.

10 O God, that you would slay the wicked –
go from me, all you bloodthirsty men –
for with evil designs they speak against you;
your holy name they take on their lips in vain.

11 I hate all those, O LORD, who hate you;
all those who resist you I deplore
with a hatred intense as I can muster.
My enemies are all they whom you abhor.

12 Search me, O God, and know my heart well.
All my anxious thoughts please test and know.
See if any offensive way be in me,
and in the way everlasting lead me home.

Text: Psalm 139:7–24. John Rogers, 2007, © Sing to the Lord, 2008, rev. 2012

139b LORD, thou hast searched me

4 If I the wings of morning take,
and far away my dwelling make,
the hand that leadeth me is thine,
and my support thy power divine.

5 If deepest darkness cover me,
the darkness hideth not from thee;
to thee both night and day are bright,
the darkness shineth as the light.

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957 LM
Tune: Henry K. Oliver, 1832 FEDERAL STREET

LORD, thou hast searched me

6 All that I am I owe to thee;
thy wisdom, LORD, has fashioned me.
I give my Maker thankful praise,
whose wondrous works my soul amaze.

7 Ere into being I was brought,
thine eye did see, and in thy thought my life in all its perfect plan was ordered ere my days began.

8 Thy thoughts, O God, how manifold,
more precious unto me than gold!
I muse on their infinity.
Awaking, I am still with thee.

9 The wicked thou wilt surely slay;
from me let sinners turn away.
They speak against the name divine;
I count GOD's enemies as mine.

10 Search me, O God, my heart discern;
try me, my inmost thought to learn;
and lead me, if in sin I stray,
to choose the everlasting way.

140 Save me, O LORD

4 O LORD, let those who hem me in
be overwhelmed by their own lies.
Let burning coals upon them fall;
from deepest pits may they not rise.
May liars find no place to stay,
the vi-o-lent be swept away.

5 I know it is the LORD alone
whose judgment vindicates the poor;
it is the LORD who will uphold
and make the needy's cause secure.
To you the righteous praise will give;
the upright in your sight will live.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 88 88 88
Tune: Jeremiah Ingalls, 1764–1828 FILLMORE (INGALLS)

141 O LORD, I call to you

4 Keep me from taking part in what the evil do;
let me not taste their choicest food,
lest I be false to you.

5 A righteous friend's rebuke
will be a soothing balm;
such blows, in kindness aimed at me,
will never do me harm.

6 Against the wicked's deeds
I make my constant prayer;
their rulers will be thrown from cliffs,
and they will perish there.

7 The wicked then will know
my words were spoken well:
like ground that's ploughed,
our bones were strewn
before the mouth of hell[a].

8 But now, O Sovereign LORD,
on you I fix my gaze;
do not deliver me to death –
you are my help always.

9 Protect me from the traps
the wicked set for me,
and let them be ensnared themselves,
while I instead go free.

142 I cry for mercy

4 I cry aloud to you, O LORD:
"You are my hiding place in strife;
you are the one sustaining me;
you keep me in the land of life."

5 LORD, listen to my cry for help,
for I am in extremity.
Save me from those who seek my life,
because they are too strong for me.

6 So that I may give thanks to you,
from prison's darkness set me free.
The righteous then will gather round,
because you've shown your love to me.

143 Hear now my prayer, O LORD

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt. 66 66 88
Tune: John Ireland, 1918 LOVE UNKNOWN

Hear now my prayer, O LORD

4 My spirit fails, O LORD;
come quickly to my side.
Hide not your face from me,
lest to the pit I slide.
Let morning bring your love anew,
for I have put my trust in you.

5 To you I lift my soul;
show me the way to go.
I hide myself in you;
LORD, save me from my foe.
My God, teach me to do your will;
may your good Spirit lead me still.

6 For your great mercy's sake,
O LORD, preserve my life;
and in your righteousness
deliver me from strife.
In love, put all my foes to shame;
destroy them, for I bear your name.

All praise to the LORD

4 Our children will blossom in beauty and grace.
Our barns will be filled, sheep and cattle increase.
No cry of distress in our streets will be heard.
How blest are the people whose God is the LORD!

145 I will exalt my God and King

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1987 LMD
Tune: C. Hubert H. Parry, 1916; arr. Sing to the Lord, 2012 JERUSALEM

I will exalt my God and King

4 All you have made will praise you, LORD;
your mighty acts your saints will show,
till all the peoples on the earth
the splendour of your kingdom know.
Eternal is your kingdom, LORD,
forever strong and ever sure;
while generations rise and die,
your glorious reign will still endure.

5 The LORD is faithful to his word;
he will extend his gracious hand.
The LORD upholds the faltering feet
and makes the weak securely stand.
The eyes of all look up to you
for food and drink, which you supply;
your open hand is bountiful,
and every need you satisfy.

6 The LORD is just in all his ways;
in all his works the LORD is kind,
and all who call on him in truth
in him a present helper find.
He will fulfil the heart's desire of those who fear him and obey.
The LORD will surely hear their cry,
will save them when to him they pray.

7 The LORD in grace preserves his saints, redeeming those who love his name.
The wicked he will overthrow and put his enemies to shame.
My mouth will sing the glorious praise
of GOD, whom earth and heaven adore.
Let every creature praise his name
forever and forevermore!

145b O Lord, thou art my God and King

5 The LORD our God is rich in grace,
most tender and compassionate;
his anger is most slow to rise,
his lovingkindness is most great.

6 The LORD is good in all his ways,
his creatures know his constant care;
to all his works his love extends,
all men his tender mercies share.

7 Thy works shall give thee thanks, O LORD,
thy saints thy mighty acts shall show,
till o'er the earth the sons of men
thy kingdom, power and glory know.

8 Eternal is thy kingdom, LORD,
forever strong and ever sure;
while generations rise and die,
shall thy dominion still endure.

147 O sing ye hallelujah!

Text: Psalter Hymnal, 1957 — 76 76 D
Tune: John B. Dykes, 1877 — HARTFORD

O sing ye hallelujah!

4 No human power delights him,
no earthly pomp or pride;
he loves the meek who fear him
and in his love confide.
Then praise thy God, O Zion,
his gracious aid confess;
he gives thee peace and plenty,
his gifts thy children bless.

5 He sends his swift commandment,
and snow and ice enfold
the world, and none are able to stand before his cold.
Again he gives commandment:
the winds of summer blow,
the snow and ice are melted,
again the waters flow.

6 His statutes and his judgments
he makes his people know;
to them as to no others
his grace he loves to show.
For matchless grace and mercy
your grateful praises bring;
to him give thanks forever,
and hallelujah sing.

4 Among the nations he shall judge;
his judgments truth shall guide;
his sceptre shall protect the just,
and quell the sinner's pride.

5 No strife shall rage, nor hostile feuds disturb those peaceful years;
to ploughshares men shall beat their swords,

shall crowds of slain deplore:

Then I saw a new heaven and earth

4 As they measured its length and breadth
I could see no temple there,
for its only temple is God the Lord
and the Lamb in that city fair.
And it needs neither sun nor moon
in a place which knows no night,
for the city's lamp is the Lamb himself,
and the glory of God its light.

5 And I saw by the sacred throne flowing water, crystal clear,
and the tree of life with its healing leaves
and its fruit growing all the year.
So the worshippers of the Lamb bear his name and see his face,
and they reign and serve and forever live
to the praise of his glorious grace.

156 O God, our help in ages past

4 A thousand ages in thy sight
are like an evening gone,
short as the watch that ends the night
before the rising sun.

5 Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
bears all its sons away;
they fly forgotten, as a dream
dies at the opening day.

6 O God, our help in ages past,
our hope for years to come,
be thou our guard while troubles last,
and our eternal home.

GLORIOUS GRACE

To the praise of his glorious grace

4 Long before the creation began,
he foreknew those he'd ransom in Christ;
long before time's cold hourglass ran,
he ordained the supreme sacrifice.
In the cross he removed our disgrace,
to the praise of his glorious grace.

O how the grace of God

4 And when I think of how at Calvary
he bore sin's penalty instead of me, amazed, I wonder why
he, the sinless One, should die
for one so vile as I:
my Saviour he!

5 Now all my heart's desire is to abide in him, my Saviour dear, in him to hide.
My shield and buckler he,
covering and protecting me:
from Satan's darts I'll be safe at his side.

6 Lord Jesus, hear my prayer, thy grace impart;
when evil thoughts arise through Satan's art,
O drive them all away
and do thou, from day to day,
keep me beneath thy sway,
King of my heart.

7 Come now, the whole of me, eyes, ears and voice;
join me, creation all, with joyful noise:
praise him who broke the chain
holding me in sin's domain
and set me free again!
Sing and rejoice!

Join all the glorious names

4 To this dear Surety's hand will I commit my cause;
he answers and fulfils
his Father's broken laws:
behold my soul at freedom set!
My Surety paid the dreadful debt.

5 Jesus, my great High Priest, offered his blood and died;
my guilty conscience seeks
no sacrifice beside:
his powerful blood did once atone,
and now it pleads before the throne.

6 My Advocate appears for my defence on high;
the Father bows his ear
and lays his thunder by:
not all that hell or sin can say shall turn his heart, his love away.

7 My dear almighty Lord,
my Conqueror and my King,
thy sceptre and thy sword,
thy reigning grace I sing.
Thine is the power; behold, I sit in willing bonds before thy feet.

8 Now let my soul arise
and tread the tempter down:
my Captain leads me forth
to conquest and a crown.
A feeble saint shall win the day,
though death and hell obstruct the way.

9 Should all the hosts of death and powers of hell unknown put their most dreadful forms
of rage and mischief on,
I shall be safe, for Christ displays
superior power, and guardian grace.

4 Why, what has my Lord done
to cause this rage and spite?
He made the lame to run,
and gave the blind their sight:
  What injuries!
    yet these are why
    the Lord Most High
  so cruelly dies.

5 With angry shouts, they have
my dear Lord done away;
a murderer they save,
the Prince of life they slay!
  Yet cheerful he
    to suffering goes,
    that he his foes
  might thus make free.

6 Here might I stay and sing
of him my soul adores;
never was love, dear King,
never was grief like yours!

Text: John Byrom, 1749 — 10 10 10 10 10 10

Tune: John Wainwright, 1750 — YORKSHIRE

Christians, awake, salute the happy morn

4 To Bethlehem straight the enlightened shepherds ran to see the wonder God had wrought for man,
and found, with Joseph and the blessed maid,
her Son, the Saviour, in a manger laid;
then to their flocks, still praising God, return,
and their glad hearts with holy rapture burn.

5 O may we keep and ponder in our mind
God's wondrous love in saving lost mankind!
Trace we the babe, who hath retrieved our loss,
from his poor manger to his bitter cross,
tread in his steps, assisted by his grace,
till our imperfect state God doth replace.

6 Then may we hope, angelic hosts among,
to sing, redeemed, a glad triumphal song:
he that was born upon this joyful day
around us all his glory shall display.
Saved by his love, incessant we shall sing
eternal praise to heaven's almighty King.

Of the Father’s love begotten

3 This is he whom heaven-taught singers sang of old with one accord, whom the voices of the prophets promised in their faithful word;
now he shines, the long-expected;
let creation praise its Lord,
evermore and evermore!

4 O ye heights of heaven, adore him;
angel hosts, his praises sing;
all dominions, bow before him
and extol our God and King;
let no tongue on earth be silent,
every voice in concert ring,
evermore and evermore!

Once in royal David's city

4 And our eyes at last shall see him,
through his own redeeming love,
for that child, so dear and gentle,
is our Lord in heaven above:
and he leads his children on to the place where he has gone.

5 Not in that poor lowly stable,
with the oxen standing by,
we shall see him, but in heaven,
set at God's right hand on high:
there his children gather round,
bright like stars, with glory crowned.

4 He is the branch of David's line,
King David's Lord and Son,
through whom and by whose grace divine
the kingdom must be won,
the kingdom must be won.

5 A wondrous change we see him make;
he takes our flesh and blood,
and he conceals for sinners' sake
his majesty of God,
his majesty of God.

6 He serves that I a king may be:
a great exchange indeed!
Could Jesus' love do more for me
to help me in my need,
to help me in my need?

7 He opens us again the door
to Paradise today;
the angel guards the gate no more:
to God our thanks we pay,
to God our thanks we pay!

No weight of gold or silver

Text: Timothy Dudley-Smith, 1972, © Hope Publishing Co., 1984 — 76 76 D
Tune: Adrian Hartog, 1954 — PASTORALE

HYMN

Not all the blood of beasts

4 My soul looks back to see the burdens thou didst bear
when hanging on the cursed tree,
and knows its guilt was there.

5 Believing, we rejoice
to see the curse remove;
we bless the Lamb with cheerful voice,
and sing redeeming love.

Text: Isaac Watts, 1709, alt. SM
Tune: William H. Walter, 1894 FESTAL SONG

HYMN

O Jesus, we adore thee

Text: Arthur T. Russell, 1851 — 76 76 D
Tune: William Lloyd, 1840 — MEIRIONYDD

HYMN

O perfect life of love

4 And on his thorn-crowned head and on his sinless soul
our sins in all their guilt were laid,
that he might make us whole.

5 In perfect love he dies;
for me he dies, ‘tis true!
O all-atoning Sacrifice,
I cling by faith to you.

6 In every time of need,
before your judgment throne
your work, O Lamb of God, I’ll plead – your merit, not my own.

7 Yet work your way in me;
my self-will, Lord, remove;
then shall my love and service be my answer to your love.

Text: Henry W. Baker, 1875, alt. SM
Tune: William Daman’s Psalmes, 1579 SOUTHWELL

HYMN

O sacred Head, now wounded

4 What language shall I borrow to thank thee, dearest friend, for this thy dying sorrow, thy pity without end?
O make me thine forever; and should I fainting be,
Lord, let me never, never outlive my love to thee.

Tune: Geistliche Volkslieder, Paderborn, 1850 O MEIN JESU

HYMN

# There is a green hill far away

4 There was no other good enough to pay the price of sin;
he only could unlock the gate
of heaven and let us in.

5 O dearly, dearly has he loved,
and we must love him too,
and trust in his redeeming blood,
and try his works to do.

Text: Cecil F. Alexander, 1847, alt. CM
Tune: W. Horsley, 1844 HORSLEY

HYMN

Man of sorrows! what a name

4 Lifted up was he to die,
"It is finished!" was his cry;
now in heaven exalted high:
Hallelujah! what a Saviour!

5 When he comes, our glorious King,
all his ransomed home to bring,
then anew this song we'll sing:
Hallelujah! what a Saviour!

THERE IS A REDEEMER

HYMN

We sing the praise of him who died

4 It makes the coward spirit brave,
and nerves the feeble arm for fight;
it takes the terror from the grave,
and gilds the bed of death with light.

5 To Christ, who won for sinners grace
by bitter grief and anguish sore, be praise from all the ransomed race
forever and forevermore.

Heaven's gift

4 Christ paid the price to set me free:
his blood poured out on Calvary's tree.
Now nothing as my own I'll call,
for all is Christ's and Christ my all.

5 All merit, boasting set aside,
by faith alone I'm justified.
Before the throne I take my place
and rest in God's amazing grace.

Jesus lives, and so shall I

4 Jesus lives! I know full well naught from him my heart can sever,
life nor death nor powers of hell,
joy nor grief, henceforth forever.
None of all his saints is lost:
Jesus is my hope and trust.

5 Jesus lives and death is now
but my entrance into glory.
Courage, then, my soul, for thou hast a crown of life before thee;
thou shalt find thy hopes were just:
Jesus is the Christian's trust.

O sons and daughters

5 When Thomas first the tidings heard
how they had seen the risen Lord,
he doubted the disciples' word.
Alleluia, alleluia!

6 "My piercèd side, O Thomas, see;
behold my hands, my feet," said he;
"not faithless but believing be."
Alleluia, alleluia!

7 No longer Thomas then denied;
he saw the feet, the hands, the side.
"You are my Lord and God!" he cried.
Alleluia, alleluia!

8 How blest are they who have not seen and yet whose faith has constant been,
for they eternal life shall win.
Alleluia, alleluia!

Optional introduction and final ending

HYMN

Rise, O church, and lift your voices

4 Doubt may lift its head to murmur,
scoffers mock and sinners jeer;
but the truth proclaims a wonder thoughtful hearts receive with cheer.
He is risen, he is risen,
now receive the risen King!

5 We acclaim your life, O Jesus,
now we sing your victory;
sin or hell may seek to seize us,
but your conquest keeps us free.
Stand in triumph, stand in triumph,
worship Christ, the risen King!

which languish for your sight.

5 Men scorn your sacred name,
and wolves devour your fold;
by many deeds of shame
we learn that love grows cold.

6 On nations near and far thick darkness gathers yet;
arise, O Morning Star,
arise and never set!

For your gift of God the Spirit

4 He, the mighty God, indwells us;
his to strengthen, help, empower;
his to overcome the tempter,
ours to call in danger's hour.
In his strength we dare to battle
all the raging hosts of sin,
and by him alone we conquer
foes without and foes within.

5 Father, grant your Holy Spirit
in our hearts may rule today,
grieved not, quenched not, but unhindered,
work in us his sovereign way.
Fill us with your holy fullness,
God the Father, Spirit, Son;
in us, through us, then, forever,
shall your perfect will be done.

Born by the Holy Spirit's breath

4 One is his love, his purpose one:
to form the likeness of his Son
in all who, called and justified, shall reign in glory at his side.

5 Nor death nor life, nor powers unseen,
nor height nor depth can come between;
we know through peril, pain and sword,
the love of God in Christ our Lord.

Who is on the Lord’s side?

4 Fierce may be the conflict, strong may be the foe,
but the King’s own army none can overthrow.
Round his standard ranging, victory is secure,
for his truth unchanging makes the triumph sure.
Joyfully enlisting by thy grace divine,
we are on the Lord’s side – Saviour, we are thine.

5 Chosen to be soldiers in an alien land,
chosen, called, and faithful, for our Captain’s band,
in the service royal let us not grow cold;
let us be right loyal, noble, true, and bold.
Master, thou wilt keep us, by thy grace divine,

Let God's people ever say,
"Nothing." Hallelujah!

We have a gospel to proclaim

4 Tell of that glorious Easter morn:
empty the tomb, for he was free;
he broke the power of death and hell
that we might share his victory.

5 Tell of his reign at God's right hand,
by all creation glorified.
He sends his Spirit on his church
to live for him, the Lamb who died.

6 Now we rejoice to name him King:
Jesus is Lord of all the earth.
This gospel message we proclaim;
we sing his glory, tell his worth.

the Spirit and the gifts are ours
through him who with us sideth.
Let goods and kindred go,

the body they may kill,
God's truth abideth still;
his kingdom is forever!

3 Crowns and thrones may perish,
kingdoms rise and wane,
but the church of Jesus
constant will remain;
gates of hell can never
’gainst that church prevail;
we have Christ’s own promise,
and that cannot fail.

this through countless ages
men and angels sing.

For all the saints

4 O blest communion, fellowship divine!
We feebly struggle, they in glory shine;
yet all are one in thee, for all are thine.
Alleluia, alleluia!

5 And when the fight is fierce, the warfare long,
steals on the ear the distant triumph song,
and hearts are brave again, and arms are strong.
Alleluia, alleluia!

6 But lo! there breaks a yet more glorious day;
the saints triumphant rise in bright array;
the King of glory passes on his way.
Alleluia, alleluia!

7 From earth’s wide bounds, from ocean’s farthest coast,
through gates of pearl streams in the countless host;
they sing to Father, Son and Holy Ghost:
Alleluia, alleluia!

Why will you suffer the law's condemnation?
Take the free gift of the water of life.

Come, ye sinners

4 Let not conscience make you linger,

can do helpless sinners good.

[a] i.e., Christ is your righteousness

Text: John S. B. Monsell, 1863 — LM
Tune: John Hatton, 1793 — DUKE STREET

HYMN

Go, labour on

4 Toil on, faint not, keep watch and pray;
be wise the erring soul to win;
go forth into the world's highway,
compel the wanderer to come in.

5 Toil on, and in your toil rejoice;
for toil comes rest, for exile home;
soon you shall hear the Bridegroom's voice,
the midnight cry, "Behold, I come."

O Jesus, I have promised

4 O Jesus, thou hast promised to all who follow thee,
that where thou art in glory
there shall thy servant be;
and, Jesus, I have promised to serve thee to the end;
O give me grace to follow,
my Master and my friend.

5 O let me see thy footprints,
and in them plant mine own;
my hope to follow duly
is in thy strength alone.
O guide me, call me, draw me,
uphold me to the end;
and then in heaven receive me,
my Saviour and my friend.

Tune: Johannes G. Bastiaans, 1812–1875; arr. J. van Weelden, alt. BEFIEHL DU DEINE WEGE

Commit whatever grieves you

4 Your hand is never shortened, all things must serve your might;
your every act is blessing,
your path is purest light.
Your work no man can hinder,
your purpose none can stay,
since you, to bless your children,
through all will make a way.

5 Hope on, my feeble spirit,
and be now undismayed;
God helps in every trial,
and makes you unafraid.
Await his time with patience,
then shall your eyes behold
the sun of joy and gladness
his brightest beams unfold.

HYMN

Abide with me

4 I fear no foe with thee at hand to bless;
ills have no weight, and tears no bitterness.
Where is death's sting? Where, grave, thy victory?
I triumph still, if thou abide with me.

5 Hold thou thy cross before my closing eyes,
shine through the gloom, and point me to the skies;
heaven's morning breaks and earth's vain shadows flee;
in life, in death, O Lord, abide with me.

4 Banish thoughts of sadness,

we do it unto thee.

Our Father, clothed with majesty

4 Your will be done, your will alone,
on earth below as round your throne.
Help us to turn from our own way,
reject our will and yours obey,
then do the tasks that we are given
with joy, as angels do in heaven.

5 Give us our daily bread, we pray,
and grant your faithful care today.
You are the only source of good;
help us to show our gratitude.
Our work and effort, we confess,
will do no good unless you bless.

6 Our sin and guilt do not record,
but freely pardon them, dear Lord,
as we forgive the debts owed us
by others who have been unjust.
Because of Christ's redeeming blood,
may we all seek each other's good.

7 Into temptation do not lead;
deliver us from sin, we plead.
Uphold us, Lord, and make us strong,
resisting evil, ending wrong.
Against the darkness help us fight
and, by your Spirit, do the right.

8 O Lord, your kingdom, glory, power
go far beyond this temporal hour.
Your holy name be ever praised
in all we do, through all our days,
in this world and eternally.
Amen, amen, so shall it be!
